COMMENDED FOR HEROIC ACTION—PHILIP J. BEICHERT, JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Joseph Beichert of Port Ewen, is presented with a commendation medal in recent ceremonies at the U. S. Naval Station, Newport, R. I., for his heroic actions aboard the USS Bennington when that vessel exploded May 26, 1954. The award was made at the weekly personnel inspection on Lawrence Field by Capt. Liles W. Creighton, commanding officer of the station, on behalf of the Secretary of the Navy. The commendation read in part: "With fires, dense smoke and intense heat spreading throughout the forward section of the ship causing death or injury to 220 officers and men, Beichert remained in the most critical areas for prolonged periods clearing away torn and twisted bulkheads to allow rescue teams to enter and remove casualties. After being forced to withdraw from the gutted spaces because of the asphyxiating fumes, he quickly donned an oxygen breathing apparatus and returned to the blast zone to resume damage control and rescue work. . . ." Beichert is now attending the University of Rhode Island, Kingston, R. I. Attending the ceremonies from this area were Beichert's parents and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Powers, Jr., of Kingston.

Bechtold Plea Is 2nd Degree

Sentence to Be Given Monday

Mrs. Anna Bechtold, 59, of Samsonville, charged with the shooting of her husband, William Bechtold, 48, Nevele Country Club chef, on September 14, 1954, changed a former plea of innocent to one of guilty to murder second degree before County Judge John M. Cashin in County Court this afternoon. She will be sentenced Wednesday.

The plea was entered for Mrs. Bechtold by former district attorney, N. LeVan Haven, and former assistant district attorney, James Abernathy, who appeared for the defendant. The plea was accepted by the court and district attorney, Howard C. St. John.

IN OFFERING the plea to a second degree murder charge, her counsel told the court that their investigation indicated there were many mitigating circumstances which had existed for a period of years, and they felt the ends of justice would be met by acceptance of the plea. Mrs. Bechtold was indicted on a charge of murder first degree by a grand jury.

The statute provides for a mandatory sentence of from 20 years to life for murder second degree.

MRS. BECHTOLD stood charged with having shot her husband with a shotgun as he entered their summer home, a modest two-room bungalow on Old Tow Path road, as he entered from his work at the club. She allegedly also shot him with a 22-calibre rifle after first firing the shotgun charge into his stomach.

Mrs. Bechtold had driven her husband to work after they allegedly had an argument at home prior to his leaving for work that morning. Jealousy over another woman was attributed as the cause for the shooting.

EARLIER that evening, Mrs. Bechtold had visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Church at 12 Lawrence street, Ellenville, and delivered a kitten in a basket as a gift to Mrs. Church. At that time she appeared to be in a hurried mood.

After the visit to the Church home, she apparently went home and awaited the arrival of her husband. Mr. Bechtold left the club about 8:45 p. m.,

Placing First Girder Today

A first steel girder on the super-structure of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge was scheduled to be delivered to the site and swung in place this afternoon.

The first of two girders weighing 53 tons each, and 101 feet long, was expected to be placed, "if all goes well" late this afternoon, an engineer said. If not it is expected to be placed tomorrow morning.

The girders arrived, with other construction material, at the north yard of the West Shore railroad several days ago. The first shipments of materials came in on seven cars.

The girders will span the distance between the west abutment and the first west-side pier.

Adenauer Quits as Minister

Will Devote All Time to Arms

Bonn, Germany, June 6 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today gave up his post as foreign minister to concentrate on the West German rearmament program.

He called on federal President Theodor Heuss to offer formally his resignation and to recommend the appointment of Christian Democrat Floor Leader Heinrich Von Brentano as foreign minister.

ADENAUER recommended also to the president the promotion of Defense Commissioner Theodor Blank to cabinet rank as West Germany's first defense minister.

The chancellor also put forward the name of Hans-Joachim Von Merkatz as cabinet minister to replace Heinrich Hellwege, who recently became premier of the state of Lower Saxony. Both are from the small German party. The job is a junior one of liaison between the cabinet and the Bundesrat (upper House).

THE PRESIDENT'S office announced that the appointments will be formally confirmed tomorrow and the new ministers would be sworn in on Wednesday.

Adenauer took on the additional role of foreign minister in March 1951, when occupied West Germany was allowed by the allies to set up diplomatic relations with friendly countries.

Adenauer had long made it known he would give up the foreign ministry after West Germany had achieved sovereignty.

His successor as foreign minister, Von Brentano, 50, has been Adenauer's close confidant and friend for the past five years.

Settlement Biggest in Industry

UAW Now Talks On GM Contract

Detroit, June 6 (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers reached agreement today on a historic guaranteed wage plan and other contract terms.

The settlement was expected to halt immediately widespread walkouts that idled 68,000 of Ford's 140,000 workers across the nation in the past 12 hours.

THE GUARANTEED wage plan is the biggest ever negotiated in American industry.

It may set the pattern for the entire automotive industry and perhaps other basic industries.

Armed with the Ford agreement, the UAW went back to the bargaining table with General Motors today to press for a contract settlement there. The GM contract expires tomorrow.

WALTER REUTHER, president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, emerged from a conference grinning and told reporters:

"Well, we've got an agreement, fellows. It's a good agreement."

Reuther called it "the largest economic package we've ever negotiated." He said the "package" was worth in excess of 20 cents per hour per employe.

The average auto worker now earns about $2.10 an hour.

Reuther said the agreement provides a boost in Ford pensions to a maximum of $241 a month, including social security. It also provides better hospital-medical benefits, he added.

"THE FORD package," he said, "contains the principles upon which we are going to build a guaranteed annual wage."

In a joint news conference, Reuther and John S. Bugas, Ford vice president for industrial relations, congratulated each other and shook hands.

Bugas said the Ford Company had agreed to go along with the guaranteed wage plans only after "a considerable internal debate" within the Ford Company.

"WE THINK it is significant," Bugas said. "We think our plan will be particularly useful in the automobile industry."

Reuther was asked when he intended to enter the negotiations with General Motors Corp.

"Well, boys," he said, "I'm going to get a day's rest and then go over to GM."

Bugas said he was particularly "proud" that the Ford agreement had been reached without a strike. He apparently meant a full strike, because some Ford plants had experienced walkouts.

"This has been one of the roughest and most complex bargaining sessions I've ever been in," Bugas said, "but I think it was well worth it."

As the settlement was announced, the UAW sent telegrams to Ford locals around the country asking them to call off any strikes that have begun or not to go through with any walkouts already planned.

The agreement is subject to ratification by the more than 50 Ford locals. Reuther said the union negotiating committee would recommend acceptance and ratification is likely.

THE GUARANTEED wage plan will provide Ford workers during layoffs with 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay. This will be in addition to state unemployment compensation benefits.

Workers will be covered through a maximum of 26 weeks

8,500 Hear Graham In Paris

Paris, June 6 (AP)—Some 8,500 Parisians flocked to a sports arena last night to hear Billy Graham launch his five-day Back-to-the-Bible crusade in the French capital.

The 37-year-old North Carolina minister said the opening session in the Great Velodrome D'Hiver went "beyond all expectation." A total of 623 persons walked down the aisles to make their "decisions for Christ."

THE VELODROME, Paris' Madison Square Garden, can seat between 15,000 and 20,000, but the huge stage and podium set up for Graham, plus a curtained area, cut sharply into the seating space.

Preaching from a podium draped in red and gold cloth, Graham spoke for half an hour. He paused at the end of each phrase while the Rev. Jacques Blocher relayed his message in French through a battery of microphones.

BEHIND the blond American were a grand piano, an electric organ and a 400-voice French choir.

Basing his sermon on the third chapter of John, 16th verse, Graham declared:

"The whole world is hungry for spiritual reality. The answer is back to the Holy Bible. I believe a spiritual awakening in Paris will have a tremendous impact on the entire world."

GRAHAM said he had not come to ask his hearers to join any particular church but to "give your life to Jesus Christ."

In response to Graham's call for Christ, hundreds left their seats to fill the aisles and open space around the altar. Volunteer counselors escorted them behind a huge curtain where Graham addressed them briefly.

The French Evangelical Alliance is sponsoring Graham's revival campaign.

'Black Cats' Are Held in Saugerties

Arrests in two area communities recently of two groups or "gangs" of youths, one known as "The Black Cats" at Saugerties, revived talks of similar groups in Kingston, but local authorities today indicated no specific proof of a similar group or groups traveling under a "club" name.

Six teenagers and a 20-year-old youth were arrested in Saugerties Saturday night after failing to disperse police said, and 17 were held in Poughkeepsie recently on "unlawful assembly" charges after teenage trouble in that city.

LOCAL POLICE recall a few incidents of similar trouble here within the past several weeks, but each involved different groups of teenagers and none gave signs of belonging to a specific "club" or gang.

Saugerties police said that one of the seven arrested there Saturday night on disorderly conduct charges carried a "homemade" or improvised "brass knuckle."

Officer Donald Sullivan had ordered the group to "move on" after a "small fight" had started where they had congregated on Main street. He arrested them when they failed to obey his order.

At Poughkeepsie, 11 of the 17 arrested in May, were dismissed after a hearing before City Judge B. J. McCoy Saturday. The others were held pending further investigation.

ARRESTED Saturday at Saugerties were Richard Fisher, 16, of 100 Dock street, Saugerties; Maurice Hinchey, 16, Rt. 3, Box 61, Saugerties; Howard Ricketson, 18, Ulster avenue, Saugerties; Arthur Fiore, 16, West Saugerties; Anson E. Spense, Jr., 20, Saugerties; Alfred Brooks, 16, Saugerties, and William Lippencott, 16, of 245 Main street, Saugerties.

Brooks was released under $500 bail and the others were held in jail pending hearing today before Police Justice Daniel Lamb at Saugerties. The group was booked on the charge at about 11 p. m. Saturday.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren and Detective Clarence Brophy said today they know of

Ulster Has Observers From Jamaica, Panama

The directors of public health nursing for Jamaica, British West Indies, and Panama are spending the month of June in Kingston observing nursing practices of the Ulster County Health Department.

Miss Eva Lowe, whose headquarters are in Kingston, Jamaica, is in charge of a public health nursing organization of 87 nurses and three supervisors who cover the entire island.

Mrs. Sylvia Duncan, with headquarters in Panama City, heads a staff of 75 public health nurses and two supervisors.

BOTH DIRECTORS are in this country on fellowships granted through the World Health Organization. They arrived in the United States last September and have both completed work on their master's degree at Columbia University last month. They will spend the summer months observing various health departments prior to returning to their countries in September.

Both requested the Ulster County Health Department as their first assignment because of their acquaintance with Miss Esther Schisa, director of public health nursing, and the fact that Ulster county covers a large rural territory more similar to that in their own countries than some of the health departments in larger cities in this country.

THEY WILL remain here until June 30, after which Miss Lowe will go to Ann Arbor, Mich., to Toronto, Canada, Guatemala and Salvadore before returning to Jamaica. When Mrs. Duncan leaves here, she will go to Columbia University for summer courses, then to Puerto Rico before returning to Panama.

Major difference in public health nursing work in the two countries from that in this country appears to be the number of babies delivered at home in the rural areas. In addition to the 87 trained public health nurses in Jamaica, Miss Lowe's department supervises the work of 231 trained midwives, and in Panama 78 rural midwives work under the supervision of Mrs. Duncan.

OTHERWISE, the work is similar, and differences are mainly "in degree," Miss Lowe pointed out. Transportation—considered a problem here because of the distances between the Health Department offices and outlying districts—is more of a problem in both Jamaica and Panama due to the lack of paved roads in the rural areas.

Both nursing directors have been in this country before. Miss Lowe took her basic nursing course in London, England, and in 1949-51 received her bachelor's

Report Plane May Have Crashed in Area Checked

LATE BULLETIN — Cpl. Elliott Johnson of the Kingston state police announced at 1:55 p. m. that the wreckage of the missing airplane had been located on Mount Ary near Quarryville. There were no survivors, he said.

The possibility that a four-passenger plane missing since Saturday afternoon may have crashed in northern Ulster county was being checked by state police today.

Troopers and Civil Air Patrol groups were following up every lead as reports began to be received from wide areas of the Catskill mountains.

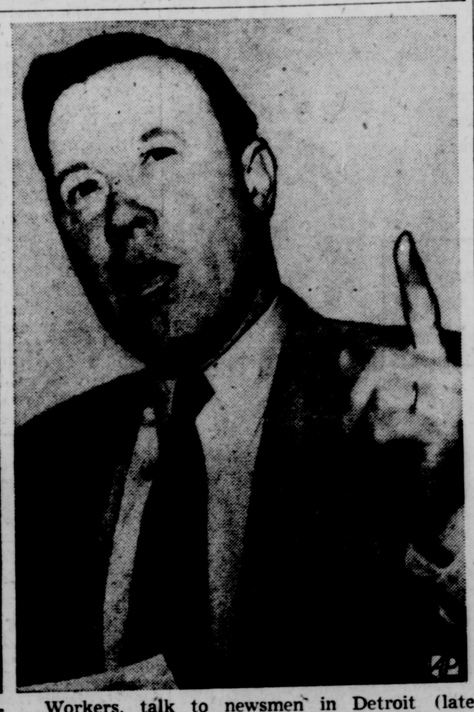

THE PLANE, piloted by Dr. Howard Lester of Schenectady, took off from Reading, Pa., at 2:45 p. m. Saturday and was scheduled to arrive at Schenectady at 5:25 p. m. His wife was a passenger.

Officials said two others were Mrs. William P. Glindmyer and William Goff, both of Schenectady.

When it became known on Sunday that the craft was long overdue, several reports were received at area state police stations from persons who remembered seeing a plane or hearing an explosion.

AMONG the latest reports was one received from the Quarryville area, stating that a plane was heard trying to gain altitude Saturday evening, and then seen apparently to descend toward the earth somewhere back of Veteran, be-

Death Rate Among Ex-Smokers Half That of Cigarette Users: Cancer Society

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6 (AP)—Men who quit smoking cigarettes probably cut their risk of dying of lung cancer compared with men who keep on smoking, the American Cancer Society (ACS) reported today.

Its study finds the cancer death rate among a group of ex-smokers was only half that of smokers.

But society officials said that due to the small numbers of smokers and ex-smokers involved, it cannot be "proven beyond reasonable doubt" that quitting reduces the risk of lung cancer. They declared more evidence is needed.

This is a main finding in the latest report of a continuing ACS study of nearly 190,000 men, aged 50 to 70, and their smoking habits and what they die of.

Criticizing the statistics, Timothy V. Hartnett, chairman of the tobacco industry research committee, said the ACS study "does not establish any cause and effect relationship."

Just a year ago the first report, indicating cigarettes play a role in lung cancer, was announced by Drs. R. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, director and assistant director of the ACS's statistical research, at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association (AMA). That first report covered 20 months' time and deaths of nearly 5,000 men.

Today's report at the opening of the AMA's 1955 session covers 32 months and studies of deaths —whether from cancer or other causes—among more than 8,000 men.

Some of the highlights and conclusions of Hammond and Horn are:

Lung cancer is rare among men who have never smoked.

The death rate from lung cancer increases with the amount of cigarettes smoked. The rate is appreciable even among men who smoke less than 10 cigarettes daily.

Regardless of whether men live in big city or rural areas, the rate is high among smokers; and low among non-smokers.

Among men who smoke two packs or more daily, heart disease is the most common cause of death, and lung cancer is second. In these men, lung cancer accounts for one in eight deaths.

In the general male population of this same age lung cancer accounts for 1 in 30 deaths. Among these heavy smokers, lung cancer outranks accidents,

Esopus Chamber Sends Out New 1955 Vacation Folder

The Chamber of Commerce of the town of Esopus has just completed publication and distribution of a new 1955 vacation folder. Thomas Bohan, president of the chamber, has had included in the new folder several new features, including a new map showing the easy access to his town from the metropolitan area by way of the Thruway. Also shown on that map is the easy access and connections with the Taconic Parkway on the east side of the river for use by New York city travelers who desire to come north to this area by way of the Parkway.

This year the Chamber of Commerce of the town of Esopus had printed 6,000 of the 12-page folders which are being distributed through travel agencies, transportation companies and by direct mail to those who make inquiry at the Chamber office or to individual resorts.

Not only does the folder feature the resort phase of the township but also provides facts on its industrial possibilities. Listed are restaurants, taverns, fruit growers and a lengthy business directory. Among the new illustrations used in the 1955 folder is one of the new Rifton beach where swimming and water facilities are available. John Burrough's famous "Slabsides" at West Park, Perrine's covered bridge at Rifton, said to be the oldest covered bridge in New York, and many other illustrations are featured.

BOTH DIRECTORS are in this country on fellowships granted through the World Health Organization. They arrived in the United States last September and have both completed work on their master's degree at Columbia University last month. They will spend the summer months observing various health departments prior to returning to their countries in September.

Both requested the Ulster County Health Department as their first assignment because of their acquaintance with Miss Esther Schisa, director of public health nursing, and the fact that Ulster county covers a large rural territory more similar to that in their own countries than some of the health departments in larger cities in this country.

THEY WILL remain here until June 30, after which Miss Lowe will go to Ann Arbor, Mich., to Toronto, Canada, Guatemala and Salvadore before returning to Jamaica. When Mrs. Duncan leaves here, she will go to Columbia University for summer courses, then to Puerto Rico before returning to Panama.

Major difference in public health nursing work in the two countries from that in this country appears to be the number of babies delivered at home in the rural areas. In addition to the 87 trained public health nurses in Jamaica, Miss Lowe's department supervises the work of 231 trained midwives, and in Panama 78 rural midwives work under the supervision of Mrs. Duncan.

OTHERWISE, the work is similar, and differences are mainly "in degree," Miss Lowe pointed out. Transportation—considered a problem here because of the distances between the Health Department offices and outlying districts—is more of a problem in both Jamaica and Panama due to the lack of paved roads in the rural areas.

Both nursing directors have been in this country before. Miss Lowe took her basic nursing course in London, England, and in 1949-51 received her bachelor's

Report Plane May Have Crashed in Area Checked

LATE BULLETIN — Cpl. Elliott Johnson of the Kingston state police announced at 1:55 p. m. that the wreckage of the missing airplane had been located on Mount Ary near Quarryville. There were no survivors, he said.

The possibility that a four-passenger plane missing since Saturday afternoon may have crashed in northern Ulster county was being checked by state police today.

Troopers and Civil Air Patrol groups were following up every lead as reports began to be received from wide areas of the Catskill mountains.

THE PLANE, piloted by Dr. Howard Lester of Schenectady, took off from Reading, Pa., at 2:45 p. m. Saturday and was scheduled to arrive at Schenectady at 5:25 p. m. His wife was a passenger.

Officials said two others were Mrs. William P. Glindmyer and William Goff, both of Schenectady.

When it became known on Sunday that the craft was long overdue, several reports were received at area state police stations from persons who remembered seeing a plane or hearing an explosion.

AMONG the latest reports was one received from the Quarryville area, stating that a plane was heard trying to gain altitude Saturday evening, and then seen apparently to descend toward the earth somewhere back of Veteran, be-

8,500 Hear Graham In Paris

Paris, June 6 (AP)—Some 8,500 Parisians flocked to a sports arena last night to hear Billy Graham launch his five-day Back-to-the-Bible crusade in the French capital.

The 37-year-old North Carolina minister said the opening session in the Great Velodrome D'Hiver went "beyond all expectation." A total of 623 persons walked down the aisles to make their "decisions for Christ."

THE VELODROME, Paris' Madison Square Garden, can seat between 15,000 and 20,000, but the huge stage and podium set up for Graham, plus a curtained area, cut sharply into the seating space.

Preaching from a podium draped in red and gold cloth, Graham spoke for half an hour. He paused at the end of each phrase while the Rev. Jacques Blocher relayed his message in French through a battery of microphones.

BEHIND the blond American were a grand piano, an electric organ and a 400-voice French choir.

Basing his sermon on the third chapter of John, 16th verse, Graham declared:

"The whole world is hungry for spiritual reality. The answer is back to the Holy Bible. I believe a spiritual awakening in Paris will have a tremendous impact on the entire world."

GRAHAM said he had not come to ask his hearers to join any particular church but to "give your life to Jesus Christ."

In response to Graham's call for Christ, hundreds left their seats to fill the aisles and open space around the altar. Volunteer counselors escorted them behind a huge curtain where Graham addressed them briefly.

The French Evangelical Alliance is sponsoring Graham's revival campaign.

Death Rate Among Ex-Smokers Half That of Cigarette Users: Cancer Society

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6 (AP)—Men who quit smoking cigarettes probably cut their risk of dying of lung cancer compared with men who keep on smoking, the American Cancer Society (ACS) reported today.

Its study finds the cancer death rate among a group of ex-smokers was only half that of smokers.

But society officials said that due to the small numbers of smokers and ex-smokers involved, it cannot be "proven beyond reasonable doubt" that quitting reduces the risk of lung cancer. They declared more evidence is needed.

This is a main finding in the latest report of a continuing ACS study of nearly 190,000 men, aged 50 to 70, and their smoking habits and what they die of.

Criticizing the statistics, Timothy V. Hartnett, chairman of the tobacco industry research committee, said the ACS study "does not establish any cause and effect relationship."

Just a year ago the first report, indicating cigarettes play a role in lung cancer, was announced by Drs. R. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, director and assistant director of the ACS's statistical research, at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association (AMA). That first report covered 20 months' time and deaths of nearly 5,000 men.

Today's report at the opening of the AMA's 1955 session covers 32 months and studies of deaths—whether from cancer or other causes—among more than 8,000 men.

Some of the highlights and conclusions of Hammond and Horn are:

Lung cancer is rare among men who have never smoked.

The death rate from lung cancer increases with the amount of cigarettes smoked. The rate is appreciable even among men who smoke less than 10 cigarettes daily.

Regardless of whether men live in big city or rural areas, the rate is high among smokers; and low among non-smokers.

Among men who smoke two packs or more daily, heart disease is the most common cause of death, and lung cancer is second. In these men, lung cancer accounts for one in eight deaths.

In the general male population of this same age lung cancer accounts for 1 in 30 deaths. Among these heavy smokers, lung cancer outranks accidents,

Esopus Chamber Sends Out New 1955 Vacation Folder

The Chamber of Commerce of the town of Esopus has just completed publication and distribution of a new 1955 vacation folder. Thomas Bohan, president of the chamber, has had included in the new folder several new features, including a new map showing the easy access to his town from the metropolitan area by way of the Thruway. Also shown on that map is the easy access and connections with the Taconic Parkway on the east side of the river for use by New York city travelers who desire to come north to this area by way of the Parkway.

This year the Chamber of Commerce of the town of Esopus had printed 6,000 of the 12-page folders which are being distributed through travel agencies, transportation companies and by direct mail to those who make inquiry at the Chamber office or to individual resorts.

Not only does the folder feature the resort phase of the township but also provides facts on its industrial possibilities. Listed are restaurants, taverns, fruit growers and a lengthy business directory. Among the new illustrations used in the 1955 folder is one of the new Rifton beach where swimming and water facilities are available. John Burrough's famous "Slabsides" at West Park, Perrine's covered bridge at Rifton, said to be the oldest covered bridge in New York, and many other illustrations are featured.

Automation Is Taking Guess Out of Weather

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

Washington—(NEA)—Spring weather can drive you crazy around this town. It's hot at breakfast, cold for lunch. It's sunny at 3 p. m. At 3:01 there's a cloudburst.

But Mrs. George P. Cressman, who lives in a nearby Maryland suburb, has this licked. For weeks, now, she hasn't had to charge to the back yard to snatch her laundry off the line out of the rain. She has a coat with her every time there's a cold snap arriving. Her windows are always down when the rain starts.

Then the other day the weather office at nearby Andrews Air Force Base called her husband and said he was about to forecast rain. But he had a special need to double-check it.

"Just a moment," Dr. Cressman said. He glanced at a paper emerging from a huge electronic calculating machine. "It can't rain," he said returning to the phone. And it didn't.

WITHIN A YEAR or so you, too, will be closing your windows before it rains, carrying your topcoat when the cold front hits and sitting at home instead of trapped on the back nine when the down pour starts. By then a unique and more accurate method of weather prediction which is being set up by Dr. Cressman will be finding its way into daily official weather reporting around the country.

Dr. Cressman is a long-hair meteorologist with a half a dozen degrees behind his name. He's introducing automation to forecasting in a joint program sponsored by the U. S. Air Force Weather Service, U. S. Naval Aerology and U. S. Weather Bureau.

What Dr. Cressman has begun to do is predict those upper atmosphere conditions, such as pressures and temperatures at various high altitudes and speed and direction of jet streams, which in turn create the weather we're concerned with on the surface.

SINCE ABOUT 1900 meteorologists have known the formula for accurately predicting these weather-creating conditions. Only trouble was, it took too long to get the basic data to solve the formula. And when they did get it, calculations required the equivalent of 644,000 fen working 24 hours.

TODAY, HOWEVER, statistics on current upper-air conditions are gathered all over the world. And the government has rented one of those giant electronic brains, an International Business Machine 701, which solves the formula in a few minutes.

The world-wide weather data, including some from Russia, flows into Dr. Cressman's office through a battery of tickers. Throughout the day this information is periodically put on punch cards, which in turn are fed into the IBM 701.

Parts of the big weather formula are thus automatically calculated and the machine prints maps of the U. S. overlaid with pressure areas at various altitudes, or jet stream speeds and directions.

Finally, at about 7 p. m. each night, the various elements of the formula are solved, the maps studied, and the prediction for the next 24 hours is made.

THE OBVIOUS QUESTION is why everyone in the U. S. can't start getting the same reliable forecasts now available to Mrs. Cressman, and those who call her husband in an emergency. And that is what Dr. Cressman is working toward. He makes quick, unofficial local forecasts from his maps. But it's not as simple as that for official, nation-wide forecasting.

They've just begun getting familiar with the machine's temperament. Flashes of light can throw it off, for instance. It takes long practice to punch the cards properly. When the air conditioning is turned off the machine has to be stopped because its hundreds of banks of tubes need to be cooled.

Dr. Cressman and his crew of 30 experts are now ironing out the bugs in the operation of the 701. The Weather Bureau is setting up a network of facsimile machines to transmit the maps to the weather stations around the country.

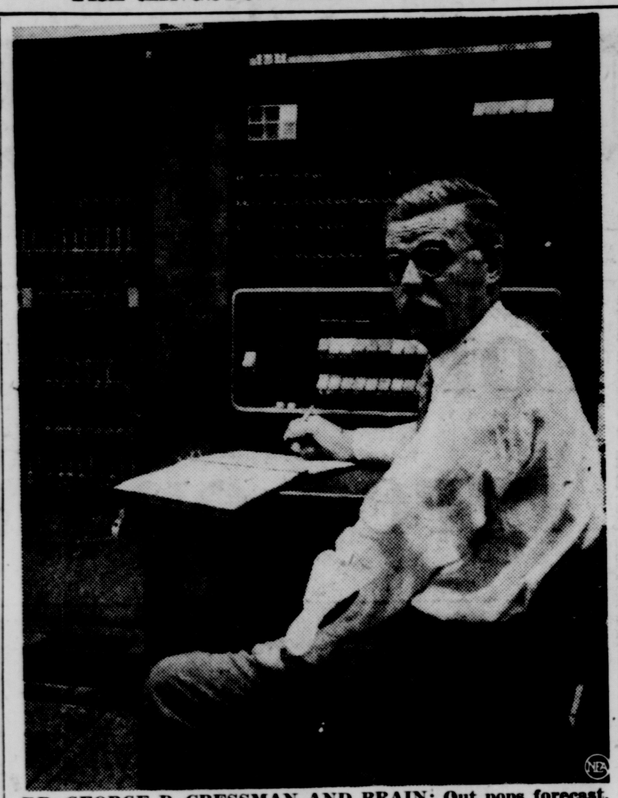

WHEN THIS IS DONE local forecasters will have to be trained to use the new maps. Predicting local conditions from the IBM 701's maps is a more precise technique than present methods. It takes time to switch from the old to the new system.

Dr. Cressman's crew has been making one 24-hour prediction per day. Soon he's going to start making two predictions a day for 36-hour periods.

Eventually, he believes the people will be getting accurate forecasts for five days, and then maybe for as much as a month.

The machine has shown up the need for more data from over the oceans, he says. Aircraft, weather ships, passenger liners and freighters currently feed over-ocean weather information to him. But he needs more of it to improve the accuracy of his predictions.

Eventually his maps will be the basis for predictions all over Cressman promises.

POW Chose Iron Curtain; Has Change of Heart

Olympia, Wash., June 6 (AP)—A 24-year-old American soldier who, as a prisoner of war, chose to remain behind the iron curtain rather than return to his young wife and daughter in Olympia, Wash., has had a change of heart.

Now he wants to come home.

MRS. OTHO G. BELL says she is encouraging her husband to return. "And if he's sent to prison, I'll get a job near the prison so I can see him from time to time," she says.

The status of Otho G. Bell is beclouded, legally. He was one of 21 American prisoners of war who refused repatriation, but stayed with Red China.

Mrs. Bell said his letters indicated that he apparently had been told that two American POWs who at first declined to return to the U. S., then did, had been executed. Actually, the pair was sentenced to prison.

Mrs. Bell is living at Olympia with their 4-year-old daughter, Paula, whom Otho Bell never has seen. He shipped overseas with the Second Infantry Division in 1950 before the daughter was born.

Mrs. Bell said her husband intended to get a passport to return to the U. S. She said she had been informed the State Department would aid and issue documents for his return if Bell reaches Hong Kong.

IN WASHINGTON, military officials said that if Bell should be given a passport to return to the U. S., it might amount to recognizing him as a U. S. citizen.

Mrs. Bell said her most recent letter from Bell was dated April 15. In it, he said he was leaving for a new job. He didn't say where. But Mrs. Bell says she was told by relatives of another POW that Bell was going to a collective farm in South China.

Commerce Hits High, Employment Lags

Albany, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—The commerce department reports that business hit an all-time high in April in New York state but that employment in non-agricultural industries continued to lag behind 1953 and 1954.

Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson said yesterday the department's index of business activity rose from 123 in March to 125 in April. It is based on the 1947-49 average, set at 100.

The construction index jumped 27 points over March to 148, the highest on record for the month.

Non-agricultural employment rose 6,000 to 5,790,000. This was 51,000 below April, 1954, and 152,000 fewer than in April, 1953.

"Pronounced" gains in employment were reported in the Niagara frontier, Elmira and Westchester-Rockland county areas.

20,000 Chinese Parade

Taipei, Formosa, June 6 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, en route to Washington to become U. S. Army chief of staff, today watched a parade of more than 20,000 Chinese Nationalist troops at Pingtung, in southern Formosa. Taylor, former U. S. Far East commander met Chiang Kai-shek at Pingtung. He leaves tomorrow for Hong Kong and Europe on his way to Washington. Yesterday he revisited Seoul where South Korean President Syngman Rhee pinned on him the military order of Taeguk with gold star. Then he flew to Okinawa for an overnight stop enroute to Taipei.

Tension Eases

Tokyo, June 6 (AP) — Tension between Japan and the Republic of Korea has eased and there no longer is a threat of an open diplomatic break. A reliable government source said today at least one cabinet member and several other influential Japanese leaders last week assured Korean diplomats here Japan was not contemplating signing any sort of official agreement with the Communist government of North Korea. An estimated 30,000 South Korean school children paraded in the streets of Seoul last week carrying anti-Japanese signs.

POW Chose Iron Curtain; Has Change of Heart

Olympia, Wash., June 6 (AP)—A 24-year-old American soldier who, as a prisoner of war, chose to remain behind the iron curtain rather than return to his young wife and daughter in Olympia, Wash., has had a change of heart.

Now he wants to come home.

MRS. OTHO G. BELL says she is encouraging her husband to return. "And if he's sent to prison, I'll get a job near the prison so I can see him from time to time," she says.

The status of Otho G. Bell is beclouded, legally. He was one of 21 American prisoners of war who refused repatriation, but stayed with Red China.

Mrs. Bell said his letters indicated that he apparently had been told that two American POWs who at first declined to return to the U. S., then did, had been executed. Actually, the pair was sentenced to prison.

Mrs. Bell is living at Olympia with their 4-year-old daughter, Paula, whom Otho Bell never has seen. He shipped overseas with the Second Infantry Division in 1950 before the daughter was born.

Mrs. Bell said her husband intended to get a passport to return to the U. S. She said she had been informed the State Department would aid and issue documents for his return if Bell reaches Hong Kong.

IN WASHINGTON, military officials said that if Bell should be given a passport to return to the U. S., it might amount to recognizing him as a U. S. citizen.

Mrs. Bell said her most recent letter from Bell was dated April 15. In it, he said he was leaving for a new job. He didn't say where. But Mrs. Bell says she was told by relatives of another POW that Bell was going to a collective farm in South China.

Commerce Hits High, Employment Lags

Albany, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—The commerce department reports that business hit an all-time high in April in New York state but that employment in non-agricultural industries continued to lag behind 1953 and 1954.

Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson said yesterday the department's index of business activity rose from 123 in March to 125 in April. It is based on the 1947-49 average, set at 100.

The construction index jumped 27 points over March to 148, the highest on record for the month.

Non-agricultural employment rose 6,000 to 5,790,000. This was 51,000 below April, 1954, and 152,000 fewer than in April, 1953.

"Pronounced" gains in employment were reported in the Niagara frontier, Elmira and Westchester-Rockland county areas.

20,000 Chinese Parade

Taipei, Formosa, June 6 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, en route to Washington to become U. S. Army chief of staff, today watched a parade of more than 20,000 Chinese Nationalist troops at Pingtung, in southern Formosa. Taylor, former U. S. Far East commander met Chiang Kai-shek at Pingtung. He leaves tomorrow for Hong Kong and Europe on his way to Washington. Yesterday he revisited Seoul where South Korean President Syngman Rhee pinned on him the military order of Taeguk with gold star. Then he flew to Okinawa for an overnight stop enroute to Taipei.

Tension Eases

Tokyo, June 6 (AP) — Tension between Japan and the Republic of Korea has eased and there no longer is a threat of an open diplomatic break. A reliable government source said today at least one cabinet member and several other influential Japanese leaders last week assured Korean diplomats here Japan was not contemplating signing any sort of official agreement with the Communist government of North Korea. An estimated 30,000 South Korean school children paraded in the streets of Seoul last week carrying anti-Japanese signs.

Kind Words

Roanoke, Va. (AP)—Kinsley McWhorter Jr., wrote in his column in the Roanoke World News, that most people are starved for kind words. He said doctors get them less frequently than anyone else. Doctors reacted at once. The Roanoke Academy of Medicine passed a resolution of thanks. The American Medical Assn. reprinted the column and sent it to the secretary of every medical society in America. From Georgia, Arkansas and Pennsylvania came requests for permission to reprint it. Individual doctors wrote to say thank you. Reacting himself, McWhorter says he is convinced that kind words get you further than harsh ones—or just being neutral. He asked his readers to try it for a week.

LONG-PULL INCOME

Years ago, before the advent of cheap money, many corporations sold high dividend preferred stocks to raise working capital. Various privileges were hooked into the shares to make them attractive to investors. One such privilege made the stocks non-callable.

Corporate managements in reality, said: "Purchasers of these preferreds will have a claim on earnings in perpetuity and at a fixed rate of return."

Thus it is that today a score of leading enterprises are saddled with these non-callable, high-paying stocks. United States Steel has a $7 preferred; United States Rubber, an $8 one; National Biscuit and International Harvester, $7 stocks; and Eastman Kodak, a $6 preferred.

IS IT POSSIBLE to get rid of a non-callable preferred? Yes. But it wouldn't be easy. The stockholders must vote in favor of such a change and an exchange of securities must be devised. And unless the preferred stockholders were amply rewarded, they wouldn't make the swap.

Now long term interest rates promise to remain low. Uncle Sam's 3 per cent bonds that are non-callable for 40 years are selling above face value. Consequently, that army of investors and that coterie of money managers looking for dependable income at a higher rate than the government must pay may well analyze the preferred stock investment opportunities.

I have mentioned only five of the preferreds. There are many more. One share each of the stocks mentioned would pay an investor $35 a year. Yet the dividend overall coverage during 1954 was tremendous. In the aggregate, per share earnings were over 30 times dividend requirements. Eastman Kodak earned $800 a share on its $6 stock.

COMMITTEES CHARGED with the responsibility of putting capital to work are constantly examining avenues of investment. Much to their disappointment, the trustees of an educational institution have just had a $250,000 4 per cent first mortgage paid off. They would very much have preferred to have had the mortgage stand.

A well-diversified list of non-callable preferreds mentioned here can be organized to afford a yield of around 4¼ per cent. Buying them virtually eliminates the problems of maturing bonds and mortgages.

One of the best ways of introducing a new stockholder to the capitalistic system is through the purchase of a blue-chip preferred. Price-wise such stocks remain rather stable. A $7 preferred pays $1.75 four times a year. If it can be bought around $160 a share, the yield would be about 4:4 per cent.

Students of finance owning preferred shares receive the corporation reports periodically sent out by management. I know many small investors thoroughly conversant with the economic affairs of their companies who bought a thousand dollars' worth of sound preferreds—a few shares at a time. As earnings reports came in, they were carefully studied and thus knowledge was built up.

Fortunate is the new stockholder who initially buys sound shares.

THE FORUM (Q) "I want to speculate in stocks with $10,000. What procedure would you suggest?"

(A) Talk the matter over with a manager or a partner of a New York Stock Exchange firm. You will doubtless be assigned an account executive who is competent in doing what you want done.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

After a Home Shampoo Disinfect Basin Sink

Where do you usually find it most convenient to shampoo your hair at home? In the bathroom basin or tub, or in the kitchen over the sink? No matter where you or other family members give hair its periodic washing, disinfecting the receptacle that has been used is important . . . and easy to do . . . to protect family health.

An inexpensive disinfectant, and one that most families always have on hand, is a household liquid bleach, such as Clorox.

After the hair has been washed and the used receptacle cleaned of residue and fallen hair strands, run about a quart of water into the receptacle and add three tablespoons of liquid bleach. Keep the surface moist with this solution for five minutes before rinsing. Not only does Clorox disinfect, it also removes stains and deodorizes, too.

It will save you plenty of steps, and encourage the family to make basin, tub or sink sanitary again after each use, if you keep a liquid bleach and disinfectant such as Clorox handy, a bottle in the bathroom as well as one in the kitchen.

Truck Makes Chief

Mountain Lakes, N. J. (AP)—The boy who brings the mitt and ball pitches the game and the man who owns a fire truck naturally becomes the chief. That's how Devereux Elmes got to be fire chief of this community of over 2,000. He recently picked up a used firetruck for $500. Elmes, who has been burned out of two homes, has 40 volunteers at his command.

HEALTH FOR ALL

LAZY TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis has many personalities. It can affect all parts of the body and show as many different symptons. It can, in fact, show no symptons at all.

Even in one area, the chest for example, tuberculosis can take on different personalities. One type moves insidiously in the early stages, coming into the open only after months of activity. Another type moves swiftly from infection to acute disease. Still a third—and far from uncommon type — progresses lazily for years without apparent symptons, causing no particular discomfort to alarm its victims.

This last type of TB is not as harmless as it sounds. As it graduually browses down the lungs, it tends to involve large areas. Ignored because it gives its host very little trouble, it may suddenly convert into an acute, rapidly progressive form of tuberculosis. Treatment begun at this point, when the patient is obviously very ill, may be able to arrest the disease and prevent death. But the victim may spend the rest of his life as a semi-invalid.

Tuberculosis can never be taken lightly, as "just a mild case." Just because the typical symptons are not present in this indolent type, does not mean that no harm is being done. Not only is the disease spreading more widely within the lung, it may be spread outside. Those with whom the patient comes in daily contact, his family, friends, and business associates, are threatened with infection. Treatment should always be started as soon as tuberculosis is discovered.

The disease can be discovered, even though there may be no symptons to send the victim of "Lazy TB" running to the doctor. This is where the regular physical examination and chest X-ray comes in. The best way to prevent tuberculosis from getting out of hand is that annual check-up by the family doctor.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

X marks the spot where TCP unlocks the full power of high octane gasoline

By overcoming deposits in combustion chambers, TCP* halts pre-firing—puts the full power of high octane to work

In an engine's combustion chamber, shown here in cross section, engine deposits capture power that high octane gasoline should be giving you.

And with the kind of "around-town" driving people mostly do, the tendency for these deposits to waste power increases—even offsetting the extra power today's high compression engines are designed to provide.

What happens is this:

On cylinder walls these deposits glow red hot, igniting the gasoline before the piston is ready for the power stroke. This is called pre-firing—and because of it, power that should be put to work is cancelled out.

On the spark plug, shown at the top right, deposits steal power, too. Here they conduct electricity away from the tips, short-circuiting the spark and making the spark plug "miss."

But the full power of high octane gasoline can now be unlocked. Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP "fireproofs" deposits in combustion chambers, and stops pre-firing. TCP additive also makes the deposits on spark plugs non-conductive, and prevents spark plug "miss."

Shell Premium with TCP works so fast you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up before you've driven 400 miles.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

SHELL
Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

LONG-PULL INCOME

Years ago, before the advent of cheap money, many corporations sold high dividend preferred stocks to raise working capital. Various privileges were hooked into the shares to make them attractive to investors. One such privilege made the stocks non-callable.

Corporate managements in reality, said: "Purchasers of these preferreds will have a claim on earnings in perpetuity and at a fixed rate of return."

Thus it is that today a score of leading enterprises are saddled with these non-callable, high-paying stocks. United States Steel has a $7 preferred; United States Rubber, an $8 one; National Biscuit and International Harvester, $7 stocks; and Eastman Kodak, a $6 preferred.

IS IT POSSIBLE to get rid of a non-callable preferred? Yes. But it wouldn't be easy. The stockholders must vote in favor of such a change and an exchange of securities must be devised. And unless the preferred stockholders were amply rewarded, they wouldn't make the swap.

Now long term interest rates promise to remain low. Uncle Sam's 3 per cent bonds that are non-callable for 40 years are selling above face value. Consequently, that army of investors and that coterie of money managers looking for dependable income at a higher rate than the government must pay may well analyze the preferred stock investment opportunities.

I have mentioned only five of the preferreds. There are many more. One share each of the stocks mentioned would pay an investor $35 a year. Yet the dividend overall coverage during 1954 was tremendous. In the aggregate, per share earnings were over 30 times dividend requirements. Eastman Kodak earned $800 a share on its $6 stock.

COMMITTEES CHARGED with the responsibility of putting capital to work are constantly examining avenues of investment. Much to their disappointment, the trustees of an educational institution have just had a $250,000 4 per cent first mortgage paid off. They would very much have preferred to have had the mortgage stand.

A well-diversified list of non-callable preferreds mentioned here can be organized to afford a yield of around 4¼ per cent. Buying them virtually eliminates the problems of maturing bonds and mortgages.

One of the best ways of introducing a new stockholder to the capitalistic system is through the purchase of a blue-chip preferred. Price-wise such stocks remain rather stable. A $7 preferred pays $1.75 four times a year. If it can be bought around $160 a share, the yield would be about 4:4 per cent.

Students of finance owning preferred shares receive the corporation reports periodically sent out by management. I know many small investors thoroughly conversant with the economic affairs of their companies who bought a thousand dollars' worth of sound preferreds—a few shares at a time. As earnings reports came in, they were carefully studied and thus knowledge was built up.

Fortunate is the new stockholder who initially buys sound shares.

Glenn, Mich. (AP)—This hamlet celebrates Pancake Day every year. It is a memorial to a day in 1937, when a snowstorm caught citizens with sparse food reserves. There was little to eat but pancakes until roads were cleared.

After a Home Shampoo Disinfect Basin Sink

Where do you usually find it most convenient to shampoo your hair at home? In the bathroom basin or tub, or in the kitchen over the sink? No matter where you or other family members give hair its periodic washing, disinfecting the receptacle that has been used is important . . . and easy to do . . . to protect family health.

An inexpensive disinfectant, and one that most families always have on hand, is a household liquid bleach, such as Clorox.

After the hair has been washed and the used receptacle cleaned of residue and fallen hair strands, run about a quart of water into the receptacle and add three tablespoons of liquid bleach. Keep the surface moist with this solution for five minutes before rinsing. Not only does Clorox disinfect, it also removes stains and deodorizes, too.

It will save you plenty of steps, and encourage the family to make basin, tub or sink sanitary again after each use, if you keep a liquid bleach and disinfectant such as Clorox handy, a bottle in the bathroom as well as one in the kitchen.

Truck Makes Chief

Mountain Lakes, N. J. (AP)—The boy who brings the mitt and ball pitches the game and the man who owns a fire truck naturally becomes the chief. That's how Devereux Elmes got to be fire chief of this community of over 2,000. He recently picked up a used firetruck for $500. Elmes, who has been burned out of two homes, has 40 volunteers at his command.

HEALTH FOR ALL

LAZY TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis has many personalities. It can affect all parts of the body and show as many different symptons. It can, in fact, show no symptons at all.

Even in one area, the chest for example, tuberculosis can take on different personalities. One type moves insidiously in the early stages, coming into the open only after months of activity. Another type moves swiftly from infection to acute disease. Still a third—and far from uncommon type — progresses lazily for years without apparent symptons, causing no particular discomfort to alarm its victims.

This last type of TB is not as harmless as it sounds. As it graduually browses down the lungs, it tends to involve large areas. Ignored because it gives its host very little trouble, it may suddenly convert into an acute, rapidly progressive form of tuberculosis. Treatment begun at this point, when the patient is obviously very ill, may be able to arrest the disease and prevent death. But the victim may spend the rest of his life as a semi-invalid.

Tuberculosis can never be taken lightly, as "just a mild case." Just because the typical symptons are not present in this indolent type, does not mean that no harm is being done. Not only is the disease spreading more widely within the lung, it may be spread outside. Those with whom the patient comes in daily contact, his family, friends, and business associates, are threatened with infection. Treatment should always be started as soon as tuberculosis is discovered.

The disease can be discovered, even though there may be no symptons to send the victim of "Lazy TB" running to the doctor. This is where the regular physical examination and chest X-ray comes in. The best way to prevent tuberculosis from getting out of hand is that annual check-up by the family doctor.

X marks the spot where TCP unlocks the full power of high octane gasoline

By overcoming deposits in combustion chambers, TCP* halts pre-firing—puts the full power of high octane to work

In an engine's combustion chamber, shown here in cross section, engine deposits capture power that high octane gasoline should be giving you.

And with the kind of "around-town" driving people mostly do, the tendency for these deposits to waste power increases—even offsetting the extra power today's high compression engines are designed to provide.

What happens is this:

On cylinder walls these deposits glow red hot, igniting the gasoline before the piston is ready for the power stroke. This is called pre-firing—and because of it, power that should be put to work is cancelled out.

On the spark plug, shown at the top right, deposits steal power, too. Here they conduct electricity away from the tips, short-circuiting the spark and making the spark plug "miss."

But the full power of high octane gasoline can now be unlocked. Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP "fireproofs" deposits in combustion chambers, and stops pre-firing. TCP additive also makes the deposits on spark plugs non-conductive, and prevents spark plug "miss."

Shell Premium with TCP works so fast you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up before you've driven 400 miles.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

SCHOOL INTEGRATION

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States as to the method of carrying out its previous decision that segration of races in schools is unconstitutional will come to most people as understanding, moderate and wise. It is plain that integration cannot be put into practice over night. Time and consideration must be given where they are needed. But it is also plain that some control as to time is necessary; otherwise dilatory communities or those with strongly opposed leaders would postpone action indefinitely.

It is evident that making the move practical will require many new school buildings, more teachers. A few southern states may find that they have not enough funds to take the first practical steps. Federal aid may be needed.

Integration is now the law of the land. Opposition is natural, but intelligent southerners realize that in the end it will be futile. The law has been stated.

If fulfilment proceeds quietly, steadily, but gently, and sensibly, there need be no serious trouble. The South is above any real opposition to law.

It is the hope of all good Americans that integration will lead to better buildings and equipment, together with a higher level of education all over the country. Races which have lived together in peace will doubtless continue to do so. Where integration has been tried, it seems to have come off rather well.

But, for better or worse, it is here. It will be accepted by loyal Americans everywhere. But it must come calmly, firmly, with consideration, with aid from the whole people where necessary. The pronouncement of the Supreme Court points in that direction.

BRAVE AND WISE

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is both wise and courageous to admit publicly "the horrors of the evil regime of the Nazis," and to concede that the Germans have been rightly punished for their participation in them. This will reassure the French, who still hesitate to ally themselves with their recent oppressor. It must be admitted that few statesmen are brave enough to admit great wrongdoing by their own country.

This courage and wisdom are the qualities that make Adenauer a pillar of strength in the struggle of the free nations with the Communists.

HOLIDAY DEATH

In the days just before a long weekend holiday the newspapers, radio and television stations emphasize the dangers of traffic accidents. The warnings are repeated. Figures published by the National Safety Council indicating how many people are expected to die violently are given publicity.

Despite the safety campaigns and the publicity the Memorial Day weekend is over and the death toll is again appallingly high. Some who were lucky enough to escape death will bear the marks of their injuries for the rest of their lives. Still others will have the memory that they were responsible for the death or serious injury of another.

How many of the people who met death, who were injured or caused injury, heard or read the warnings and ignored them? Can we profit from their tragedy and pledge that at all times we will take every precaution to protect our own lives and the lives of others who share the roads and highways with us?

GOOD IN-LAWS

Things do go out of style, even ogres. Just a little while ago, the classic answer to the question, "When is a mother not a mother?", would have been, "When she is a mother-in-law." But a current survey indicates that the menace who is maternally related to the little wife has a rating of 65 per cent approval among 10,048 men interviewed.

Somehow it has never occcured to anyone to question the fact that one's own mother is wonderful whereas his wife's mother is a fiend-type female to be handled rarely and treated as little as possible.

Fact really is sounder than fiction as surveys sometimes prove. A great many people really do like their mothers-in-law.

'These Days'

THE COST OF ELECTIONS

When an election costs too much, it gives the appearance, if not the substance, of being bought. The British are aware of this and have laid down ground rules that are rigidly adhered to but which cannot be employed in this country because of the variety of offices which Americans are called upon to vote for. All British candidates run for the same office, Member of Parliament. There are no nation-wide or state-wide candidates.

The costs of elections are higher here, but they need not be so high as to invalidate the principle of freedom of choice. No one can even estimate the cost of an American general election. The figures that are reported are a small fraction of the expenditures. Not only is cash passed "under the table," as the expression goes, but numerous non-reporting committees, foundations and educational divisions of labor unions expend money for political purposes.

The Fund for the Republic, for instance, to which the Ford Foundation gave $15,000,000 and is now denying its offspring, has become engaged in political operations. But it is not the only sinner, in the sense that tax-free money is used for purposes that are termed educational while actually they are all designed to affect votes and influence political action.

Philip L. Graham, Publisher of "The Washington Post and Times Herald," in a speech in Chicago recently called attention to conditions which deprive politicians of self-respect. He said: ". . . we maintain an official lie about political expenditures. We do this by having a Federal law which limits expenditures by a candidate for Congress to a maximum of $5,000, by a candidate for the Senate to $25,000, and by a national political committee to $3,000,000. Now a Senator, even in a small state, cannot run for $25,000 and in a state like Illinois he cannot run for $250,000. But the law remains on the books, the myth is maintained by a series of long-practiced manipulations and evasions, and so we force the able man entering politics to launch his career with an initial act of blatant hyprocrisy. And to endure this indignity every time he runs again."

It is estimated that the 1952 Presidential campaign cost somewhere in the neihgborhood of $100,000,000. The exact figure will never be known. The official reports showed $17,500,000. The high cost of television is going to raise the true 1956 figure above that of 1952.

A candidate may with the best of intentions enter upon a campaign, hoping to avoid expenditures which amount to many times his salary for his entire term. He may have a Messianic emotion about himself, believing that once he is in office, he can change the world. His first great compromise is that to win he has to spend money and his managers will get the money where they can and in whatever form the donor is willing to give it.

A Congressional committee, headed by Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of Missouri, is at work on this problem. It would seem that there has always been such a committee. Graham suggests that one solution could be if large numbers of citizens made small contrubtions. This is a moral solution designed to make the election honest by removing the necessity for going to racketeers or special interests for money.

In addition, campaigns should be of short duration. With the advantage of radio and television, three weeks ought to be ample. Maybe the candidates would be more serious about their speeches if they made fewer of them. All collateral organizations, committees, etc., should be required to report every detail of expenditure, and the punishment for failure to report ought to be very severe. It ought to be law that every dollar spent for whatever purpose by any one or any group during the campaign be reported, with a felony penalty for failure to report, with no mitigating circumstances accepted.

Unless something is done about our elections, they will cease altogether to represent the choice of the people. They will be bought elections, the office going to him who can spend the most money on radio and television. Already candidates go to instructors who teach them how to act on television which is a silly thing to do. We do not elect television actors; we elect men whom we expect to be competent administrators and legislators.

That Body of Yours

CAUSES OF CRYING IN BABIES

None of us likes to hear a baby cry and not try to do something about it, yet we have no idea of the reason for the crying. Professor Illingworth of the University of Sheffield has given us some useful information on this subject which should help.

He states that in the first three months of life, the most common cause of crying is discomfort, of which hunger is the most likely source. Excessive or prolonged crying is usually the result of keeping the baby waiting a long time for food when he is ready for it. This may be because parents think that a baby must be kept on a strict feeding schedule and will learn bad habits if fed when he wants food. Babies often cry from hunger because they are taken away from the breast before they have finished. It is wrong, he says, to let babies feed for a fixed period, say ten minutes, because all breasts and nipples are not alike in the ease with which milk can be obtained from them.

"Many babies cry from hunger because the nurse, physician, or mother is so obsessed by the fear of over-feeding that the baby is half-starved. I have yet to see a baby who cries because of over-feeding. Discomfort may occur from gas in the stomach but most crying attributed to this cause is really due to hunger or boredom."

Crying in the evening from 6 to 10 p. m. in a well-fed baby is usually due to colic caused by collections of gas in the intestine. Crying from discomfort may also be due to being too hot, too cold, or being wet or soiled.

A most important cause of crying in babies is loneliness. This crying soon stops if the baby is picked up and cuddled—other types of crying do not.

It is interesting to learn that boredom is the most common cause of crying in the older baby, although discomfort due to hunger continues but to a lesser degree than in the younger baby. Many babies are left to cry for hours in a carriage outside, with nothing but a brick wall to see, and their mothers cannot understand what is wrong with them. "All the babies want is to see what is going on and to have company. Many such babies cease crying if they can watch their mothers."

Other causes, in the older baby, are forced feeding, strange surroundings, inability to play, tiredness, and teething. "There is no evidence that it does any harm to a baby to pick it up when it cries; it does not cause a bad habit of expecting to be constantly picked up to develop. A baby that screams from colic, pain or teething should be picked up and comforted."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The question most frequently asked in connection with the Salk polio vaccine mixup is why the U. S. government did not step in earlier to control its distribution?

The argument is advanced that if this had been done, all the confusion of the last two months would have been avoided.

The first answer given to this question is that the federal government has no legal power to control distribution. That is why the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has now asked Congress for new authority in this field.

Under the bill introduced by Rep. J. Percy Priest (D-Tenn.), whenever the secretary of this department finds it necessary to protect the health of the American people the distribution of any serum or toxin may be put under government control.

The Priest bill would also tighten up the department's existing Public Health Service authority to license and set standards of manufacture for all vaccines.

IT WAS UNDER the limited authority now held by PHS that Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele on April 27 ordered the Cutter Laboratories to withdraw their polio vaccine. This was after the first six cases of polio were reported in children inoculated with the Cutter vaccine.

When Dr. Scheele on May 8 decided that all inoculations should be suspended, all he could do was recommend that this be done. He had no legal authority to order it.

Most of the states complied with his recommendation but a few continued their inoculations on their own responsibility.

This loophole shows the need for passage of a new law, giving the Secretary of Health more authority.

To blame all the past mixup over the inoculation program on Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby was therefore hardly fair.

The responsibility for such actions as the department did take was Secretary Hobby's. Like the newspaper editor which she is, she blue-penciled and finally approved every announcement that her department put out on this situation.

But all she could really do was act on the recommendations of Surgeon General Scheele, her legal counsel and Dr. Chester S. Keefer, her American Medical Association adviser on health affairs.

IN THE END it was Dr. Schleele who had to make all the tough decisions. He acted on each move only after the fullest consultations with medical scientists, manufacturers of the vaccine and the government experts in the Biological Control Laboratory of the National Health Institute.

Decisions to allow distribution of the polio vaccine through normal chanels of the drug trade and the medical profession on a voluntary compliance basis were in line with normal practice. There are no government controls over the distribution of smallpox vaccine, diptheria antitoxin or any other such preparations.

The government does not even test all the serums itself. It merely checks the protocols, or records of tests made by the manufacturers. Use of all drugs is entirely in the hands of the individual doctors who administer them.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT factor in the government's refusal to assume responsibility for distribution of the polio vaccine was that it had no money to finance the operation. An act of Congress and months would have been required to recruit a staff and build up an organization to handle distribution.

As a matter of hindsight, the government may be open to some criticism on this score. This year's great demand for what was last year an unproven vaccine was not foreseen.

Congress was not asked for additional appropriations last year to handle this work.

As a matter of fact both the Budget Bureau and Congress cut PHS appropriations from the original amounts requested by Dr. Scheele for his operations.

The whole polio vaccine distribution job was therefore left to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It financed the research which developed the vaccine. It was willing and eagar to handle distribution. But the job was too big and the voluntary agency machinery broke down.

That is why the Eisenhower administration has now gone to Congress asking for an additional 28 million dollars for this work. This is for grants to the states, whose own health departments would administer distribution.

The money would pay for the vaccine for all children under 20 years of age, and provide free inoculations for the children whose families could not afford to pay for them. This would be the limit of U. S. government control.

Plight of the People in So-Called Republic of Indonesia Answer to Anti-Colonialism

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Hague, Holland, June 6 —The phony cry of anti-colonialism, to which many persons in the free world have so blindly succumbed, has much to answer for in the terrible plight of the people of the so-called Republic of Indonesia.

Since the East Indies were governed peacefully by The Netherlands government for a long time, the facts available here show a nation torn by revolution, menaced by the steady exodus of foreign capital and ruled by a Communist-inspired dictator. Indonesia has 80,000,000 people, but pro-Communist forces rule the government and prevent elections from being held.

HOLLAND WAS pressured by the governments of Britain and the United States to give up its colonies and grant complete independence to Indonesia. But the new sponsors today have abandoned the islands. A dictatorship government there continues to defy and spurn a report from the United Nations Commission made in October 1950 which sought to carry through its mission of peaceful reconstruction.

The Dutch government is saddened, and so are the people of this country of all parties, that the free world has allowed such a tragedy to happen. Worst of all is the continued indifference of the United Nations to the plight of the republic of the South Moluccas, which was granted autonomy under the historic agreement of 1949 as a member of the new federation comprising the United States of Indonesia. But the Soekarno dictatorship has since torn the federal union's constitution to pieces and seized much of the territory of the Moluccas. The people there are still fighting for liberty and independence under frightful conditions of blockade and economic isolation which are abetted by foreign shipowners in league with the Indonesian dictatorship.

ENLIGHTENED colonialism —for the Dutch have undoubtedly been the best of modern administrators and the staunch builders of economic enterprises —has been superseded by Communist colonialism.

Today there is no such thing as human liberty in a democratic sense in Indonesia. Some of the finest Dutch business men — seventy of them—have been thrown into jail on trumped-up charges of conspiracy and have been denied the right to choose their own counsel to defend themselves. None of the so-called "wicked" colonial governments of Europe would have dared to do anything of this sort.

The record of Soviet influence in the setting up of the Indonesian republic is known to everybody in official circles familiar with what happened when the Dutch were forced out by diplomatic coercion. In a pamphlet which, after being printed in 1949, was suppressed here in order not to create further complications in the relations with the Indonesians, the Netherlands government says:

"THE COURSE of all negotiations with the republic of Indonesia for a final political overall agreement, from the very first phase up to the recent breakdown, has been deeply affected by Communist influence and undercover action in the republic and its government."

More than a billion dollars is still invested in Indonesia by the Dutch. The government here is doing all it can to protect those investments and hence nobody advocates a return of Dutch rule. There is deep concern over the prospects. For, although the United Nations helped to create the Indonesian republic, it appears to have abandoned the people to a dictatorship. Despite its own intervention just after World War 2, the United Nations organization does nothing now to safeguard the rights of the millions of people who, against their will, were stripped of the protection of the Netherlands government.

Obviously Indonesia cannot protect itself against military attack. It cannot ask the Netherlands government to fight future invaders. This is the plight of those smaller countries which want all the advantages of independence without any of the expensive obligations of defense that logically must be assumed by any independent, sovereign state.

MOST PEOPLE in the world are very little aware of the present condition of the islands which used to appear on the map as the Dutch East Indies, and where valuable oil and rubber are to be found. After the United States and Soviet Russia, this is the richest area in the world in natural resources. Most people, moreover, do not know why Soviet Russia and Communist China look with such covetous eyes on these islands. But the truth is that, by the process of infiltration and internal conspiracy which is the familiar pattern of the "cold war," the Communists are eager to secure the complete conquest of the Indonesians.

The only light on the horizon is the fact that America, Britain, France and many other powers at last have awakened to the menace of the Indonesian dictator in his attempt to grab Dutch New Guinea and set up a colonialism of his own. This island territory, which is 1,500 miles from the Indonesian capital, no more belongs to Indonesia than Guam does to Japan. Dutch New Guinea is a strategic gateway to Australia. If Indo-China comes under the yoke of communism along with Indonesia, the peoples of the former colonial areas in southeast Asia will have lost any chance for real freedom and real independence.

THE GLIB orators and easily pressured statesmen of the west may continue to prate about the "evils of colonialism," but they will be hard put to it now to find ways of encouraging investors to build up these undeveloped countries if the Communists are to move in any day with their policies of confiscation—as they have done in Indonesia.

Communist colonialism, with its disorders and tyranny in the Netherlands East Indies, has supplanted Dutch colonialism, with its liberty and economic stability. The United Nations has a great deal on its conscience to answer for. It did help to sell the Indonesian people into bondage.

System Is Offered to Cut Cost of Promotion Coupons

New York, June 6 (AP)—Groceries "for free"—between 75 and 100 million dollars worth—will be handed out this year to housewives clutching coupons.

Retailers handle about one billion coupons annually—and their squawks about the trouble and the cost seem to be mounting as rapidly as the number and variety of manufacturers' coupon promotions.

To see what can be done about the objections, the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., has surveyed coupon handling methods and now offers a system it says should cut costs and handling time in half. It involves uniformity of coupon size, short cuts in counting, and gadgets like special sorting tables.

CONSUMERS LIKE coupons apparently. And Paul S. Willis, GMA president, insists that most food distributors do too, because coupons pull more customers into their stores and sell food that otherwise would remain on the shelves.

His view isn't shared by at least one nationwide grocery chain (Safeway). It calls coupons an increasing headache for the stores and labels them a price-cutting dodge by brand promoters to fool the buyer.

Another distributor, on the other hand, makes an all-out bid for you to bring in your coupons by using full-page, four-color newspaper ads on the couponed products. Thinking of coupons as money, it holds that the provide the housewife with additional money for purschasing more groceries.

IT COSTS ALL concerned two cents apiece on average to handle coupons, some estmate. On one billion coupons a year this would be 20 million dollars. GMA holds this could be cut in half if the food industry would follow its system, which is has just tested in 1,000 food stores.

Some coupons are a nuisance because they're too big and won't fit cash register drawer compartments. And some are small, hard to count and likely to be lost. GMA wants them all uniform, the size of a dollar bill. One manufacturer is trying to punch card coupons which on can be counted by machines.

Retailers complain that boxe's top or other coupons pulled off packages are hard to handle, stack or mail. They dislike coupons that have to be signed. That leads to delays at checkout counters. And signed coupons become first class mail when sent in for redemption.

GMS URGES its members to stick as closely as possible to denominations of five cents or multiples of five, to make tallying easier. And it has designed a three-compartment box where coupons can be easily sorted by denomination, instead of by manufacturer. Each pile can be quickly counted and this cuts in half the time it takes a bookkeeper or store manager to sort, count and report coupons.

When the coupons reach distributor headquarters, or warehouse level, GMA favors a special table with racks for easy sorting of coupons sent in from the various stores.

THE ASSOCIATION urged manufacturers to adopt a uniform style or color for all their coupon promotions, so that headquarter clerks can easily sort coupons by source of manufacture.

The final objection of grocers to handling coupons—waiting for the manufacturer to send him the cash for the groceries he has handed out "free" to customers —should be met head on, GMA says. It urges its members to speed up redemption time and to let the retailer send in coupons sorted or unsorted as he likes.

The key to it all, says GMA, is uniformity and cooperation—then it won't cost the grocer and the manufacturer so much to give the housewife "something for nothing."

SCHOOL INTEGRATION

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States as to the method of carrying out its previous decision that segration of races in schools is unconstitutional will come to most people as understanding, moderate and wise. It is plain that integration cannot be put into practice over night. Time and consideration must be given where they are needed. But it is also plain that some control as to time is necessary; otherwise dilatory communities or those with strongly opposed leaders would postpone action indefinitely.

It is evident that making the move practical will require many new school buildings, more teachers. A few southern states may find that they have not enough funds to take the first practical steps. Federal aid may be needed.

Integration is now the law of the land. Opposition is natural, but intelligent southerners realize that in the end it will be futile. The law has been stated.

If fulfilment proceeds quietly, steadily, but gently, and sensibly, there need be no serious trouble. The South is above any real opposition to law.

It is the hope of all good Americans that integration will lead to better buildings and equipment, together with a higher level of education all over the country. Races which have lived together in peace will doubtless continue to do so. Where integration has been tried, it seems to have come off rather well.

But, for better or worse, it is here. It will be accepted by loyal Americans everywhere. But it must come calmly, firmly, with consideration, with aid from the whole people where necessary. The pronouncement of the Supreme Court points in that direction.

BRAVE AND WISE

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is both wise and courageous to admit publicly "the horrors of the evil regime of the Nazis," and to concede that the Germans have been rightly punished for their participation in them. This will reassure the French, who still hesitate to ally themselves with their recent oppressor. It must be admitted that few statesmen are brave enough to admit great wrongdoing by their own country.

This courage and wisdom are the qualities that make Adenauer a pillar of strength in the struggle of the free nations with the Communists.

HOLIDAY DEATH

In the days just before a long weekend holiday the newspapers, radio and television stations emphasize the dangers of traffic accidents. The warnings are repeated. Figures published by the National Safety Council indicating how many people are expected to die violently are given publicity.

Despite the safety campaigns and the publicity the Memorial Day weekend is over and the death toll is again appallingly high. Some who were lucky enough to escape death will bear the marks of their injuries for the rest of their lives. Still others will have the memory that they were responsible for the death or serious injury of another.

How many of the people who met death, who were injured or caused injury, heard or read the warnings and ignored them? Can we profit from their tragedy and pledge that at all times we will take every precaution to protect our own lives and the lives of others who share the roads and highways with us?

GOOD IN-LAWS

Things do go out of style, even ogres. Just a little while ago, the classic answer to the question, "When is a mother not a mother?", would have been, "When she is a mother-in-law." But a current survey indicates that the menace who is maternally related to the little wife has a rating of 65 per cent approval among 10,048 men interviewed.

Somehow it has never occcured to anyone to question the fact that one's own mother is wonderful whereas his wife's mother is a fiend-type female to be handled rarely and treated as little as possible.

Fact really is sounder than fiction as surveys sometimes prove. A great many people really do like their mothers-in-law.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE COST OF ELECTIONS

When an election costs too much, it gives the appearance, if not the substance, of being bought. The British are aware of this and have laid down ground rules that are rigidly adhered to but which cannot be employed in this country because of the variety of offices which Americans are called upon to vote for. All British candidates run for the same office, Member of Parliament. There are no nation-wide or state-wide candidates.

The costs of elections are higher here, but they need not be so high as to invalidate the principle of freedom of choice. No one can even estimate the cost of an American general election. The figures that are reported are a small fraction of the expenditures. Not only is cash passed "under the table," as the expression goes, but numerous non-reporting committees, foundations and educational divisions of labor unions expend money for political purposes.

The Fund for the Republic, for instance, to which the Ford Foundation gave $15,000,000 and is now denying its offspring, has become engaged in political operations. But it is not the only sinner, in the sense that tax-free money is used for purposes that are termed educational while actually they are all designed to affect votes and influence political action.

Philip L. Graham, Publisher of "The Washington Post and Times Herald," in a speech in Chicago recently called attention to conditions which deprive politicians of self-respect. He said:

". . . we maintain an official lie about political expenditures. We do this by having a Federal law which limits expenditures by a candidate for Congress to a maximum of $5,000, by a candidate for the Senate to $25,000, and by a national political committee to $3,000,000. Now a Senator, even in a small state, cannot run for $25,000 and in a state like Illinois he cannot run for $250,000. But the law remains on the books, the myth is maintained by a series of long-practiced manipulations and evasions, and so we force the able man entering politics to launch his career with an initial act of blatant hyprocrisy. And to endure this indignity every time he runs again."

It is estimated that the 1952 Presidential campaign cost somewhere in the neihgborhood of $100,000,000. The exact figure will never be known. The official reports showed $17,500,000. The high cost of television is going to raise the true 1956 figure above that of 1952.

A candidate may with the best of intentions enter upon a campaign, hoping to avoid expenditures which amount to many times his salary for his entire term. He may have a Messianic emotion about himself, believing that once he is in office, he can change the world. His first great compromise is that to win he has to spend money and his managers will get the money where they can and in whatever form the donor is willing to give it.

A Congressional committee, headed by Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of Missouri, is at work on this problem. It would seem that there has always been such a committee. Graham suggests that one solution could be if large numbers of citizens made small contrubtions. This is a moral solution designed to make the election honest by removing the necessity for going to racketeers or special interests for money.

In addition, campaigns should be of short duration. With the advantage of radio and television, three weeks ought to be ample. Maybe the candidates would be more serious about their speeches if they made fewer of them. All collateral organizations, committees, etc., should be required to report every detail of expenditure, and the punishment for failure to report ought to be very severe. It ought to be law that every dollar spent for whatever purpose by any one or any group during the campaign be reported, with a felony penalty for failure to report, with no mitigating circumstances accepted.

Unless something is done about our elections, they will cease altogether to represent the choice of the people. They will be bought elections, the office going to him who can spend the most money on radio and television. Already candidates go to instructors who teach them how to act on television which is a silly thing to do. We do not elect television actors; we elect men whom we expect to be competent administrators and legislators.

That Body of Yours

CAUSES OF CRYING IN BABIES

None of us likes to hear a baby cry and not try to do something about it, yet we have no idea of the reason for the crying. Professor Illingworth of the University of Sheffield has given us some useful information on this subject which should help.

He states that in the first three months of life, the most common cause of crying is discomfort, of which hunger is the most likely source. Excessive or prolonged crying is usually the result of keeping the baby waiting a long time for food when he is ready for it. This may be because parents think that a baby must be kept on a strict feeding schedule and will learn bad habits if fed when he wants food. Babies often cry from hunger because they are taken away from the breast before they have finished. It is wrong, he says, to let babies feed for a fixed period, say ten minutes, because all breasts and nipples are not alike in the ease with which milk can be obtained from them.

"Many babies cry from hunger because the nurse, physician, or mother is so obsessed by the fear of over-feeding that the baby is half-starved. I have yet to see a baby who cries because of over-feeding. Discomfort may occur from gas in the stomach but most crying attributed to this cause is really due to hunger or boredom."

Crying in the evening from 6 to 10 p. m. in a well-fed baby is usually due to colic caused by collections of gas in the intestine. Crying from discomfort may also be due to being too hot, too cold, or being wet or soiled.

A most important cause of crying in babies is loneliness. This crying soon stops if the baby is picked up and cuddled—other types of crying do not.

It is interesting to learn that boredom is the most common cause of crying in the older baby, although discomfort due to hunger continues but to a lesser degree than in the younger baby. Many babies are left to cry for hours in a carriage outside, with nothing but a brick wall to see, and their mothers cannot understand what is wrong with them. "All the babies want is to see what is going on and to have company. Many such babies cease crying if they can watch their mothers."

Other causes, in the older baby, are forced feeding, strange surroundings, inability to play, tiredness, and teething. "There is no evidence that it does any harm to a baby to pick it up when it cries; it does not cause a bad habit of expecting to be constantly picked up to develop. A baby that screams from colic, pain or teething should be picked up and comforted."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The question most frequently asked in connection with the Salk polio vaccine mixup is why the U. S. government did not step in earlier to control its distribution?

The argument is advanced that if this had been done, all the confusion of the last two months would have been avoided.

The first answer given to this question is that the federal government has no legal power to control distribution. That is why the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has now asked Congress for new authority in this field.

Under the bill introduced by Rep. J. Percy Priest (D-Tenn.), whenever the secretary of this department finds it necessary to protect the health of the American people the distribution of any serum or toxin may be put under government control.

The Priest bill would also tighten up the department's existing Public Health Service authority to license and set standards of manufacture for all vaccines.

IT WAS UNDER the limited authority now held by PHS that Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele on April 27 ordered the Cutter Laboratories to withdraw their polio vaccine. This was after the first six cases of polio were reported in children inoculated with the Cutter vaccine.

When Dr. Scheele on May 8 decided that all inoculations should be suspended, all he could do was recommend that this be done. He had no legal authority to order it.

Most of the states complied with his recommendation but a few continued their inoculations on their own responsibility.

This loophole shows the need for passage of a new law, giving the Secretary of Health more authority.

To blame all the past mixup over the inoculation program on Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby was therefore hardly fair.

The responsibility for such actions as the department did take was Secretary Hobby's. Like the newspaper editor which she is, she blue-penciled and finally approved every announcement that her department put out on this situation.

But all she could really do was act on the recommendations of Surgeon General Scheele, her legal counsel and Dr. Chester S. Keefer, her American Medical Association adviser on health affairs.

IN THE END it was Dr. Schleele who had to make all the tough decisions. He acted on each move only after the fullest consultations with medical scientists, manufacturers of the vaccine and the government experts in the Biological Control Laboratory of the National Health Institute.

Decisions to allow distribution of the polio vaccine through normal chanels of the drug trade and the medical profession on a voluntary compliance basis were in line with normal practice. There are no government controls over the distribution of smallpox vaccine, diptheria antitoxin or any other such preparations.

The government does not even test all the serums itself. It merely checks the protocols, or records of tests made by the manufacturers. Use of all drugs is entirely in the hands of the individual doctors who administer them.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT factor in the government's refusal to assume responsibility for distribution of the polio vaccine was that it had no money to finance the operation. An act of Congress and months would have been required to recruit a staff and build up an organization to handle distribution.

As a matter of hindsight, the government may be open to some criticism on this score. This year's great demand for what was last year an unproven vaccine was not foreseen.

Congress was not asked for additional appropriations last year to handle this work.

As a matter of fact both the Budget Bureau and Congress cut PHS appropriations from the original amounts requested by Dr. Scheele for his operations.

The whole polio vaccine distribution job was therefore left to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It financed the research which developed the vaccine. It was willing and eagar to handle distribution. But the job was too big and the voluntary agency machinery broke down.

That is why the Eisenhower administration has now gone to Congress asking for an additional 28 million dollars for this work. This is for grants to the states, whose own health departments would administer distribution.

The money would pay for the vaccine for all children under 20 years of age, and provide free inoculations for the children whose families could not afford to pay for them. This would be the limit of U. S. government control.

Plight of the People in So-Called Republic of Indonesia Answer to Anti-Colonialism

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Hague, Holland, June 6—The phony cry of anti-colonialism, to which many persons in the free world have so blindly succumbed, has much to answer for in the terrible plight of the people of the so-called Republic of Indonesia.

Since the East Indies were governed peacefully by The Netherlands government for a long time, the facts available here show a nation torn by revolution, menaced by the steady exodus of foreign capital and ruled by a Communist-inspired dictator. Indonesia has 80,000,000 people, but pro-Communist forces rule the government and prevent elections from being held.

HOLLAND WAS pressured by the governments of Britain and the United States to give up its colonies and grant complete independence to Indonesia. But the new sponsors today have abandoned the islands. A dictatorship government there continues to defy and spurn a report from the United Nations Commission made in October 1950 which sought to carry through its mission of peaceful reconstruction.

The Dutch government is saddened, and so are the people of this country of all parties, that the free world has allowed such a tragedy to happen. Worst of all is the continued indifference of the United Nations to the plight of the republic of the South Moluccas, which was granted autonomy under the historic agreement of 1949 as a member of the new federation comprising the United States of Indonesia. But the Soekarno dictatorship has since torn the federal union's constitution to pieces and seized much of the territory of the Moluccas. The people there are still fighting for liberty and independence under frightful conditions of blockade and economic isolation which are abetted by foreign shipowners in league with the Indonesian dictatorship.

ENLIGHTENED colonialism—for the Dutch have undoubtedly been the best of modern administrators and the staunch builders of economic enterprises—has been superseded by Communist colonialism.

Today there is no such thing as human liberty in a democratic sense in Indonesia. Some of the finest Dutch business men — seventy of them—have been thrown into jail on trumped-up charges of conspiracy and have been denied the right to choose their own counsel to defend themselves. None of the so-called "wicked" colonial governments of Europe would have dared to do anything of this sort.

The record of Soviet influence in the setting up of the Indonesian republic is known to everybody in official circles familiar with what happened when the Dutch were forced out by diplomatic coercion. In a pamphlet which, after being printed in 1949, was suppressed here in order not to create further complications in the relations with the Indonesians, the Netherlands government says:

"THE COURSE of all negotiations with the republic of Indonesia for a final political overall agreement, from the very first phase up to the recent breakdown, has been deeply affected by Communist influence and undercover action in the republic and its government."

More than a billion dollars is still invested in Indonesia by the Dutch. The government here is doing all it can to protect those investments and hence nobody advocates a return of Dutch rule. There is deep concern over the prospects. For, although the United Nations helped to create the Indonesian republic, it appears to have abandoned the people to a dictatorship. Despite its own intervention just after World War 2, the United Nations organization does nothing now to safeguard the rights of the millions of people who, against their will, were stripped of the protection of the Netherlands government.

Obviously Indonesia cannot protect itself against military attack. It cannot ask the Netherlands government to fight future invaders. This is the plight of those smaller countries which want all the advantages of independence without any of the expensive obligations of defense that logically must be assumed by any independent, sovereign state.

MOST PEOPLE in the world are very little aware of the present condition of the islands which used to appear on the map as the Dutch East Indies, and where valuable oil and rubber are to be found. Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Ex-President Harry Truman's book is nearly ready for publication. It is about Mr. Truman, his life as a politician, and contains some 300,000 words.

The words will be well chosen. I will read them to find out if any of them admit he ever made a mistake. Was Communism in the United States a "red herring," or not? What about Yalta, Potsdam, the Morgenthau Plan?

Mr. Hutton

When Mr. Truman was catapulted into the Presidency ten years ago, he captured the good will of the public by the modesty with which he began office. How about it now?

It is said that Abraham Lincoln's favorite poem was, "Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?" It haunted him all his life.

I wonder if humble men like Lincoln and Robert E. Lee have disappeared from the American scene. It looks as if the age of pyramid building has come back. Mr. Roosevelt started it at Hyde Park, — a monument while living, to his pride, at public expense. Truman's friends are passing the hat to erect a counterpart in Missouri. Even Eisenhower's friends want to do the same at Abilene. God forbid!

Neighbor, it will be interesting to see what "give-em-hell" Harry thinks of the ex-President.

Allaben

Allaben, June 4—Mr. and Mrs. John Little of New York city, Mr. and Mrs. George Quinlan of Poughkeepsie called on friends here Saturday. Mrs. Quinlan is the former Edna Peck of this place.

Views on Democracy

South Hadley, Mass., June 6 (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren told a graduating class yesterday that 'of all the known forms of government a democracy is the most difficult to achieve, to practice and to preserve." He told the 118th commencement of Mount Holyoke College that: "Democracy is now so much a form of government as it is the spirit of the people. Its form is easily counterfeited, but its spirit either lives or dies according to existing standards of civil intelligence and social morality. The key to all progress is citizenship." He said that upon the office of citizenship "are predicated all the hopes and ambitions, we have for our country and ourselves."

Explaining Death to Child Through Comfort and Truth

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Joe developed special affection for his Uncle Ken the summer he visited him and his aunt at their lake place. It was Uncle Ken who gave Joe his first fishing rod—and showed him how to use it. It was he who'd thought of camping out that unforgettable night beside the lake. Though he had no children of his own, he seemed to know more about you than any other people.

When Joe was seven, Uncle Ken died.

When his mother told him, he walked over to the window. She started to speak, but he shook his head irritably, his face averted, "Leave me alone, I hafta think," he said.

But late that evening, the thoughts became too oppressive to bear alone. To his sudden cry of "Mother!" she went to him to find him, sitting up in bed in the dark. In a high, strained voice, Joe asked, "It means I'll never see him again, doesn't it?" Does it, Mother?"

She sat down on the bed, not touching him. "Yes, Joe, that's what it means," she said.

She waited. Then into the darkness, she said, "Last week you came home from school so happy. You hadn't liked the spelling mark Miss James gave you. She didn't get mad when you told her. She was very kind, remember? She said you might be right and she'd think some more about your spelling mark . . ."

Then as quietly as she'd let time pass, she added, "That's almost exactly what Uncle Ken would have told you."

There was no answer. She picked up the square, child hand on the coverlet to hold it between hers. "No, you won't see Uncle Ken again," she said. "But all the things you loved in him, you'll see again. In Miss James, you saw a little part of him when she was so nice about you maybe being right. It will always be that way. If you look for what you loved in him, you will recognize it in someone, sooner or later. If we remember this, you and I, we won't miss him so terribly as we do now."

Though Joe is now 11, he still refers to a just grownup as an "Uncle Kennish" person.

This is the first time I have discussed the interpretation of death to children. I have avoided it because how we explain it is so apt to reflect our individual religious or lack of religious belief that I felt any suggestions of mine would be intrusive.

I offer the interpretation of Joe's mother only because its idea of immortality is digestible by children. As they are deeply absorbed in life here, our grownup promises of Heavenly bliss or absolute death tend to sound equally abstract.

I intend to offend nobody by the idea that the qualities a child has loved are not lost with the loss of the beloved person in whom they temporarily resided. I offer it because it contains comfort and understandable truth.

To Study Sale

Syracuse, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—Gov. Harriman says he intends to give further study to a controversial proposed contract for the sale of electricity from the St. Lawrence river power project to the Aluminum Co. of America. At a news conference yesterday, the governor commented that the contract was "unusual." He said he was familiar generally with its terms but was keeping an open mind pending a public hearing. On Friday Harriman scheduled the hearing for June 14. The announcement followed a sharp clash between U. S. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Robert Moses, chairman of the state power authority.

New French Jet Reaches High Speed

Paris, June 6 (AP) — A new French jet interceptor was reported today to have reached a speed of between 750 and 1,000 miles in horizontal flight over the Melun-Villaroche Airfield, 30 miles south of Paris.

A spokesman at the French air ministry said the reports, published in all Paris papers today, were "basically true."

The prototype plane, called the Trident SO-9000, is powered by two jets—one at the tip of each wing—and with three rockets at the tail.

The performance Saturday was made with the use of only two of the three rockets, it was reported. French test pilot Charles Goujon was at the controls.

With its three rockets the Trident is expected to reach a speed of about 1,125 miles per hour.

The exact performance of the Trident will be announced later in a joint comunique by the French air ministry and the French company which built the plane.

Put yourself in the East seat for the bidding of today's hand. Your partner has opened the bidding with three hearts, a shutout bid that indicates a long heart suit in a hand that has practically no defensive strength.

Your first step is to make a fast estimate on your defensive and offensive strength. Defensively, your heart strength may be worthless. Your diamonds are of doubtful value. You can defend effectively against a spade contract, but against nothing else. Offensively, you can't judge the hand accurately, but you're willing to bid four hearts on the chance that either your spades or your diamonds will be useful.

Once you've made such an estimate you won't make the mistake of doubling five spades. Why warn the opponents when they've reached the only contract that you can defend against?

When the hand was actually played, East greedily doubled five spades. Not liking the sound of the double, South rescued himself into six clubs. This move was as shrewd as East's double had been clumsy.

West could have set the contract by opening his singleton spade and getting a ruff, but he rather naturally opened the ace of hearts. South ruffed, drew trumps with the ace and jack, and led the eight of spades for a finesse. East could do nothing to defeat the contract; he could get only his ace of spades. Declarer could get to dummy as often as necessary to finesse in spades, and the doubled slam contract was home.

If East had let the opponents play the hand at five spades undoubled, he'd have wound up with a profit of at least 100 points. As it was, he wound up with a loss of a game and 790 points. Quite an expensive double!

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Ex-President Harry Truman's book is nearly ready for publication. It is about Mr. Truman, his life as a politician, and contains some 300,000 words.

The words will be well chosen. I will read them to find out if any of them admit he ever made a mistake. Was Communism in the United States a "red herring," or not? What about Yalta, Potsdam, the Morgenthau Plan?

Mr. Hutton

When Mr. Truman was catapulted into the Presidency ten years ago, he captured the good will of the public by the modesty with which he began office. How about it now?

It is said that Abraham Lincoln's favorite poem was, "Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?" It haunted him all his life.

I wonder if humble men like Lincoln and Robert E. Lee have disappeared from the American scene. It looks as if the age of pyramid building has come back. Mr. Roosevelt started it at Hyde Park, — a monument while living, to his pride, at public expense. Truman's friends are passing the hat to erect a counterpart in Missouri. Even Eisenhower's friends want to do the same at Abilene. God forbid!

Neighbor, it will be interesting to see what "give-em-hell" Harry thinks of the ex-President.

Esopus Mishap Injures Four

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in a two-car collision on Route 9W in the town of Esopus about 7:45 p. m. Saturday, state police reported.

Frank McGlynn, 54, of Long Island City, driver of one of the automobiles, suffered bruises, abrasions and possible rib fractures, and his wife, Lois, 53, received multiple lacerations of the face, left knee, ankle, thumb and possible internal injuries, troopers said. Conditions of both were reported as "good" at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie today.

Edward Woodard of 11 South Water street, Newburgh, driver of the other vehicle, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Vassar Hospital with injuries listed by state police as lacerations to the front and back of his head and possible rib fractures. His passenger, Clifford Brown, 37, also of Newburgh, was taken to the hospital for examination of possible internal injuries, but was not admitted, the hospital report indicated.

Troopers said McGlynn was driving north and Woodard was headed south when they collided.

200,000th Passenger

New York, June 6 (AP)—The liner United States put its 200,000th passenger ashore today with appropriate pomp and circumstance. She was Claude Jacqueline Riviere, petite brunette French secretary, here to look for "something interest" in the way of a job. The vessel's maiden voyage was in July 1952.

New Shooting Is Started, Brings Plea for Zone

Cairo, Egypt, June 6 (AP) — New shooting between forces of Egypt and Israel along the troubled Gaza strip has brought fresh Egyptian demands for a demilitarized zone along the Israeli-Egyptian frontier.

Egypt's war office said six Israeli armed cars and trucks opened fire early Sunday on two Egyptian outposts near the demarcation line.

An Israeli army spokesman in Jerusalem accused the Egyptians of shooting first.

NEITHER SIDE reported any casualties in the three-hour exchange, but an Egyptian army spokesman said a UN observer called to the scene had to take cover to escape Israeli bullets.

The war ministry said Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser has revived his proposal to Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, chief of the UN truce observation teams, that a demilitarized zone be set up along the Egyptian-Israeli demarcation line to reduce border conflicts in the Gaza area.

THE STATEMENT by Col. Salah Gohar, head of the war ministry's Palestine affairs division, apparently was intended to dispel any impression that an earlier warning by Nasser was a new war threat.

The Egyptian press quoted Nasser Saturday as saying any Israeli attempt to take the Gaza Strip would "mean war." The statement after Burns told the Premier he believed the Israelis intended to seize the strip, a 135-square-mile coastal wedge of Palestine between Israel's southern Negev desert and the Mediterranean. It was awarded to Egypt in the 1948 armistice.

A SYRIAN army source said in Damascus yesterday that Syria's military forces stood ready to help Egypt check any Israeli "aggression."

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Burmese Primier U Nu told newsmen he is willing to mediate between Israel and the Arab states if both sides want it. U Nu, who has been on a nine-day visit to Israel, said: "I am friendly with both your country and the Arab states. I am for peace."

It was recalled, however, that the Burman reportedly dropped Egypt from his world tour after a suggestion from Cairo that he not visit Israel.

Blaze Damages Garage Loft On Downs Street

A fire believed to have been started by children playing with matches damaged the loft of a 1½-story garage owned by Douglas Jacobson, at 210 Downs street early Saturday afternoon.

Wiltwyck station and Wicks Engine Company responded to a call at 12:28 p. m.

The same units responded to a call at 8:52 p. m. Sunday to 139 Bruyn avenue where fire in a lamp damaged the lamp and a dresser in the home of Virginia Albrecht. It was apparently caused by a short circuit, firemen said.

Boards Notified

Atlanta, June 6 (AP) — The south's local school boards have been put on notice they will face court action if they fail to move for the end of public school segregation in time for the next school term. In a strategy conference in Atlanta Saturday, delegates of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People from 16 states and the District of Columbia set September as the goal for beginning a program to compel classroom integration. Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, an outspoken foe of the U. S. Supreme Court's decision banning school segregation, said the NAACP plan is "very unwise."

of idleness. Payments will be made from a jointly administered trust fund. The company will pay in five cents per hour per employe for each of the next three years, the period covered by the contract. This will build up a $55,000,000 fund during the life of the contract.

THE COMPANY had proposed putting up five cents per hour per worker the first year, six cents the second year, and seven cents the third year for the supplemental jobless payments.

In the settlement, it was agreed that these contributions would be only five cents per hour for each of the three years. Reuther said the money thus saved was negotiated in other contract improvements.

"All I can say is, we made a good trade," Reuther said.

The agreement provides that the company will start contributing toward the supplemental jobless payment fund immediately with no payments to be made out of the fund, however, for a year, until June 1, 1956.

BOTH REUTHER and Bugas expressed belief that provisions of state laws and administrative rules barring idle workers from drawing payments from employers while also receiving state unemployment compensation benefits can be altered to permit the Ford plans to become effective on schedule a year from now.

Reuther said the UAW had agreed to let Ford "handle the stock problem as it sees fit."

Deer Damage Trees

Salem, Ore. (AP)—Deer browsing on small trees planted in the state's reforestation program on the big Tillamook burn area have become a major threat to plans for restoring the timber, the Oregon forestry department says. Fire used to be the biggest threat to timber, Forester George Spaur said, but now insects in the grown trees, deer nibbling the young trees, and field mice eating the seeds, have become major worries. In some areas, damage from deer is estimated at up to 80 per cent of the young trees. Porcupines are another hazard. In the Lakeview area the Elks club offers prizes to boys and girls who kill the most porcupines. The animals eat bark from the young trees, causing heavy loss.

Coal Firemen

Salem, Ore. (AP)—Owners of several old buildings donated them to let firemen set small fires and experiment with new spray methods of fighting blazes. The firemen had such a tough time getting fires started in one rain-soaked building they put off further attempts unil a little sunshine makes the job less difficul.

ENVOY — Georgi Zhukov, Soviet Defense Minister, attends a meeting in Warsaw, Poland, to draft treaty of mutual security between Russia and East Europe allies.

This referred to Ford's offer, earlier in the negotiations, to let its workers buy company stock at half price when the stock is put on the market for public sale for the first time.

Bugas was asked whether Ford now intends to do this. He replied that he could not comment now.

Denies Radiation Is Poisoning Air

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6 (AP) —Lewis P. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said today it seems an 'act of irresponsibility" for anyone to claim radiation from atomic tests is poisoning the air and guaranteeing "future generations of monsters."

"Actually," he said, "there is no evidence at this time to indicate that our weapons testing . . . has increased radiation levels . . . to an extent which would afford warranty for such extreme statements."

STRAUSS' remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

"In general," he continued, "the increased radiation for all people everywhere, as a result of all tests to date—ours, Great Britain's and the Soviet's—has added only fractionally to the natural background radiation to which we all have been subjected since the beginning of time. This increase . . . has been about equal to that of one medical chest X-ray."

IN THE LIGHT of present knowledge of radiation effects, he added, "it would seem to be an act of irresponsibility for anyone to assert that the generations of monsters, all attributable to atomic radiations."

Strauss said, however, "in the event of war involving the indiscriminate use of . . . nuclear weapons—as opposed to limited, controled testing—the radiation danger to civilian populations would be very great."

and walked the mile to his summer home.

After the shooting, Mrs. Bechtold apparently drove to their Samsonville home and from there telephoned state police that she had shot her husband. The message was relayed to the Kingston state police station by a caretaker who spoke broken English, and the police were unable to ascertain just what the message was. The phone call was traced and Ellenville state police went to the Bechtold home and discovered the shooting.

Prior to calling the troopers, Mrs. Bechtold allegedly attempted to take her own life by inhaling chloroform. When that attempt failed, she apparently had the authorities notified.

Report Plane May

tween Woodstock and West Saugerties.

Earlier reports in the Catskill area had the plane going down near Spruceville, in the Hunter Mountain area, and an elderly man reported having heard an explosion in that area.

STATE POLICE checked each report by sending out ground searching parties of troopers and volunteers, and also notified CAP units at Catskill. So far, results of the investigation have been negative.

Although no report has been discounted, it was pointed out by troopers that a thunderstorm in the mountain area Saturday afternoon and evening could have resulted in thunderclaps being mistaken for explosions. It was also noted that in the mountainous territory sometimes a plane in level flight appears to dip toward the earth as it nears the horizon.

Navy tests are due Tuesday for LCU-1488, the 11th steel landing craft built by Island Dock, Inc.

Island Dock also announced today it has signed a contract with Sergent Line Corp., of New York, to build two steel coal barges. They will be of hopper type, 120 by 34 feet, and construction is due to start as soon as the steel is received at the yard.

SCHEDULED to leave the yard at 8:30 a. m., the landing craft will undergo trials on the Hudson between here and Poughkeepsie. It is due back at Island Dock shortly after noon and will be delivered at the end of the week to the Brooklyn Navy yard, if it pases all tests.

LCU-1490, the 14th of Island Dock's 17-vessel navy program, is scheduled for lanching Friday at 3:30 p. m.

The craft are steel-hulled, 115 by 34 feet, and are designed to carry vehicles and personnel on beachheads.

They are triple-screw vessels and carry a crew of 14.

'Black Cats'

no specific organized group or groups in the city, but they know of groups about town who dress alike and wear a "part-in-the-middle" hair trim entending to the back of the head.

SAUGERTIES police said the group there wears black trousers with pink stripes, and pink shirts. They are known, they said, "to sometimes travel to Kingston." They came in for mention here once, at least, it was noted when local police were called to Railroad avenue to disperse a group of teenagers several weeks ago.

Chief VanBuren said groups of young men have been known to gather at various points in the city for many years, but police are under standing orders to keep them moving or to disperse them if showing signs of trouble.

Two groups were dispersed and arrests were made in the Central Broadway sector within the past several weeks. Those arrested each time were the few who refused to move along as ordered.

AT POUGHKEEPSIE, Judge McCoy noted Saturday that "policemen apparently arrived in time" to prevent trouble, and noting the number of arrests made, said "the police had no alternative."

Of the Poughkeepsie group, two were 20 years old, another was 21, and the rest were teenagers ranging from 16 to 19 years old. It was indicated in in court that as many as 40 youths had been gathered on North Hamilton street before police picked up the 17.

Poughkeepsie authorities made no mention of an organizational or "club" name there.

Full information on the disposition of each case by Police Justice Lamb was not available this afternoon, but it was indicated that some were placed in the custody of counsel.

200,000th Passenger

New York, June 6 (AP)—The liner United States put its 200,000th passenger ashore today with appropriate pomp and circumstance. She was Claude Jacqueline Riviere, petite brunette French secretary, here to look for "something interest" in the way of a job. The vessel's maiden voyage was in July 1952.

New Shooting Is Started, Brings Plea for Zone

Cairo, Egypt, June 6 (AP) — New shooting between forces of Egypt and Israel along the troubled Gaza strip has brought fresh Egyptian demands for a demilitarized zone along the Israeli-Egyptian frontier.

Egypt's war office said six Israeli armed cars and trucks opened fire early Sunday on two Egyptian outposts near the demarcation line.

An Israeli army spokesman in Jerusalem accused the Egyptians of shooting first.

NEITHER SIDE reported any casualties in the three-hour exchange, but an Egyptian army spokesman said a UN observer called to the scene had to take cover to escape Israeli bullets.

The war ministry said Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser has revived his proposal to Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, chief of the UN truce observation teams, that a demilitarized zone be set up along the Egyptian-Israeli demarcation line to reduce border conflicts in the Gaza area.

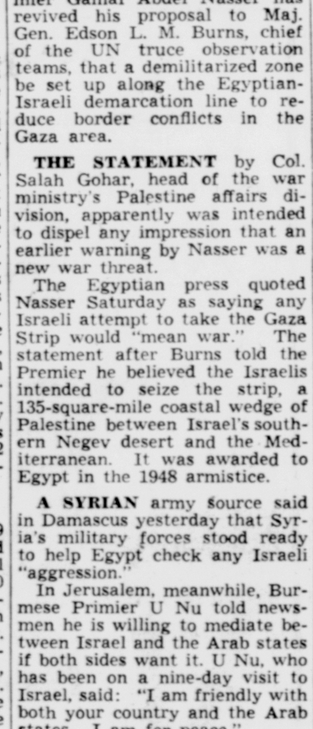

THE STATEMENT by Col. Salah Gohar, head of the war ministry's Palestine affairs division, apparently was intended to dispel any impression that an earlier warning by Nasser was a new war threat.

The Egyptian press quoted Nasser Saturday as saying any Israeli attempt to take the Gaza Strip would "mean war." The statement after Burns told the Premier he believed the Israelis intended to seize the strip, a 135-square-mile coastal wedge of Palestine between Israel's southern Negev desert and the Mediterranean. It was awarded to Egypt in the 1948 armistice.

A SYRIAN army source said in Damascus yesterday that Syria's military forces stood ready to help Egypt check any Israeli "aggression."

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Burmese Primier U Nu told newsmen he is willing to mediate between Israel and the Arab states if both sides want it. U Nu, who has been on a nine-day visit to Israel, said: "I am friendly with both your country and the Arab states. I am for peace."

It was recalled, however, that the Burman reportedly dropped Egypt from his world tour after a suggestion from Cairo that he not visit Israel.

Boards Notified

Atlanta, June 6 (AP) — The south's local school boards have been put on notice they will face court action if they fail to move for the end of public school segregation in time for the next school term. In a strategy conference in Atlanta Saturday, delegates of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People from 16 states and the District of Columbia set September as the goal for beginning a program to compel classroom integration. Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, an outspoken foe of the U. S. Supreme Court's decision banning school segregation, said the NAACP plan is "very unwise."

of idleness. Payments will be made from a jointly administered trust fund. The company will pay in five cents per hour per employe for each of the next three years, the period covered by the contract. This will build up a $55,000,000 fund during the life of the contract.

THE COMPANY had proposed putting up five cents per hour per worker the first year, six cents the second year, and seven cents the third year for the supplemental jobless payments.

In the settlement, it was agreed that these contributions would be only five cents per hour for each of the three years. Reuther said the money thus saved was negotiated in other contract improvements.

"All I can say is, we made a good trade," Reuther said.

The agreement provides that the company will start contributing toward the supplemental jobless payment fund immediately with no payments to be made out of the fund, however, for a year, until June 1, 1956.

BOTH REUTHER and Bugas expressed belief that provisions of state laws and administrative rules barring idle workers from drawing payments from employers while also receiving state unemployment compensation benefits can be altered to permit the Ford plans to become effective on schedule a year from now.

Reuther said the UAW had agreed to let Ford "handle the stock problem as it sees fit."

Deer Damage Trees

Salem, Ore. (AP)—Deer browsing on small trees planted in the state's reforestation program on the big Tillamook burn area have become a major threat to plans for restoring the timber, the Oregon forestry department says. Fire used to be the biggest threat to timber, Forester George Spaur said, but now insects in the grown trees, deer nibbling the young trees, and field mice eating the seeds, have become major worries. In some areas, damage from deer is estimated at up to 80 per cent of the young trees. Porcupines are another hazard. In the Lakeview area the Elks club offers prizes to boys and girls who kill the most porcupines. The animals eat bark from the young trees, causing heavy loss.

Coal Firemen

Salem, Ore. (AP)—Owners of several old buildings donated them to let firemen set small fires and experiment with new spray methods of fighting blazes. The firemen had such a tough time getting fires started in one rain-soaked building they put off further attempts unil a little sunshine makes the job less difficul.

Arrested for Speeding

Daniel Addessee, 18, of Sunset Drive, Port Ewen, was arrested by officers Gilbert Gray and William Slover, on East Chester street at 9:13 p. m., Sunday on a charge of speeding. City Judge Raymond J. Mino, noting that it was the second offense within four weeks fined him $35 and imposed a jail sentence of 10 days which he suspended.

This referred to Ford's offer, earlier in the negotiations, to let its workers buy company stock at half price when the stock is put on the market for public sale for the first time.

Bugas was asked whether Ford now intends to do this. He replied that he could not comment now.

Denies Radiation Is Poisoning Air

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6 (AP) —Lewis P. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said today it seems an 'act of irresponsibility" for anyone to claim radiation from atomic tests is poisoning the air and guaranteeing "future generations of monsters."

"Actually," he said, "there is no evidence at this time to indicate that our weapons testing . . . has increased radiation levels . . . to an extent which would afford warranty for such extreme statements."

STRAUSS' remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

"In general," he continued, "the increased radiation for all people everywhere, as a result of all tests to date—ours, Great Britain's and the Soviet's—has added only fractionally to the natural background radiation to which we all have been subjected since the beginning of time. This increase . . . has been about equal to that of one medical chest X-ray."

IN THE LIGHT of present knowledge of radiation effects, he added, "it would seem to be an act of irresponsibility for anyone to assert that the generations of monsters, all attributable to atomic radiations."

Strauss said, however, "in the event of war involving the indiscriminate use of . . . nuclear weapons—as opposed to limited, controled testing—the radiation danger to civilian populations would be very great."

After the shooting, Mrs. Bechtold apparently drove to their Samsonville home and from there telephoned state police that she had shot her husband. The message was relayed to the Kingston state police station by a caretaker who spoke broken English, and the police were unable to ascertain just what the message was. The phone call was traced and Ellenville state police went to the Bechtold home and discovered the shooting.

Prior to calling the troopers, Mrs. Bechtold allegedly attempted to take her own life by inhaling chloroform. When that attempt failed, she apparently had the authorities notified.

Report Plane May

tween Woodstock and West Saugerties.

Earlier reports in the Catskill area had the plane going down near Spruceville, in the Hunter Mountain area, and an elderly man reported having heard an explosion in that area.

STATE POLICE checked each report by sending out ground searching parties of troopers and volunteers, and also notified CAP units at Catskill. So far, results of the investigation have been negative.

Although no report has been discounted, it was pointed out by troopers that a thunderstorm in the mountain area Saturday afternoon and evening could have resulted in thunderclaps being mistaken for explosions. It was also noted that in the mountainous territory sometimes a plane in level flight appears to dip toward the earth as it nears the horizon.

Tests Due June 7 For 11th Craft

Navy tests are due Tuesday for LCU-1488, the 11th steel landing craft built by Island Dock, Inc.

Island Dock also announced today it has signed a contract with Sergent Line Corp., of New York, to build two steel coal barges. They will be of hopper type, 120 by 34 feet, and construction is due to start as soon as the steel is received at the yard.

SCHEDULED to leave the yard at 8:30 a. m., the landing craft will undergo trials on the Hudson between here and Poughkeepsie. It is due back at Island Dock shortly after noon and will be delivered at the end of the week to the Brooklyn Navy yard, if it pases all tests.

LCU-1490, the 14th of Island Dock's 17-vessel navy program, is scheduled for lanching Friday at 3:30 p. m.

The craft are steel-hulled, 115 by 34 feet, and are designed to carry vehicles and personnel on beachheads.

They are triple-screw vessels and carry a crew of 14.

'Black Cats'

no specific organized group or groups in the city, but they know of groups about town who dress alike and wear a "part-in-the-middle" hair trim entending to the back of the head.

SAUGERTIES police said the group there wears black trousers with pink stripes, and pink shirts. They are known, they said, "to sometimes travel to Kingston." They came in for mention here once, at least, it was noted when local police were called to Railroad avenue to disperse a group of teenagers several weeks ago.

Chief VanBuren said groups of young men have been known to gather at various points in the city for many years, but police are under standing orders to keep them moving or to disperse them if showing signs of trouble.

Two groups were dispersed and arrests were made in the Central Broadway sector within the past several weeks. Those arrested each time were the few who refused to move along as ordered.

AT POUGHKEEPSIE, Judge McCoy noted Saturday that "policemen apparently arrived in time" to prevent trouble, and noting the number of arrests made, said "the police had no alternative."

Of the Poughkeepsie group, two were 20 years old, another was 21, and the rest were teenagers ranging from 16 to 19 years old. It was indicated in in court that as many as 40 youths had been gathered on North Hamilton street before police picked up the 17.

Poughkeepsie authorities made no mention of an organizational or "club" name there.

Full information on the disposition of each case by Police Justice Lamb was not available this afternoon, but it was indicated that some were placed in the custody of counsel.

Justice to Whom?

By FRANK TRIPP

The Justice Department would enjoin printed publications from hiring help of their choice and determining what shall be their standard of competency required. It even seeks to encroach upon publications' rights to say what shall be paid for services rendered.

That doesn't sound like the United States of America. It echoes ominous notes from governments which control their press and let their people know only what dictators want them to know.

Suits have been brought against associations whose members produce the newspapers, magazines, agricultural and business publications of the country and against the American Association of Advertising Agencies whose members create a vast percentage of all advertising other than local, not alone that which is printed but also the most of that which sustains radio and television.

BRIEFLY, the eager beavers of the Justice Department attack the right of advertising media to demand standards of ability, experience and financial responsibility from men who in actual practice act as their creative agents. The beavers also contend that a standard compensation of 15 per cent discount allowed as pay for this service amounts to "collusion."

This standard is as old as modern advertising itself. It is more than a discount for volume of business, such as is uniformly accepted in general trade. It is pay for expert service directly rendered. It was thus created and is paid on small accounts when volume is not a factor, thus is equitable and fair in all cases.

To earn this pay for their services, media demand a standard of agency competency and financial stability which is known as "recognition" — no more than is demanded of any major employe.

ALL ADVERTISING agencies, "recognized" or not, are important sales agencies for all media, whether or not members of the associations attacked. They create advertising accounts and provide a sales art, copy and idea service which small media could not possibly furnish and would be so costly to large media that all advertising rates would materially increase. Under the prevailing system, the contract, the art, the copy and even the printing plates are delivered at the media's doorstep, completely serviced.

But that is not all. The bill, whether for a want ad or full pages, whether for $1.25 or half a million, is owned by, guaranteed and paid by the agency. The entire transaction is between media and agency. It is absurd to contend that some sort of "recognition" and understanding should not exist.

The size or location of an agency does not control recognition. Nor does the size of the media determine the publications which the agency shall use. The agent selects his own clients, also the media. If the work he does for a client costs more than his 15 per cent discount received from media, the client pays the excess.

SOMEBODY must have sold the Justice Department, which either did not take the trouble to get the facts, or is fantastically misnamed, that anybody who places an ad in a publication is entitled to the 15 per cent discount which is paid to agencies for services rendered.

So the suit subtly amounts to government effort to fix the advertising rates of media and destroy orderly practice which is the support of a free American press. It signals a dangerous approach to the bulwark which makes our press out-spoken and independent—its solvency.

IF IT IS ILLEGAL for anybody, anywhere, to select his own agents, demand standards of competency, determine compensation, and require proof of stability for credit in large figures, then let's go all out:

The Big News!
Amoco announces a new way to make gas, a new conception of octane

A few short months ago a man pressed a button . . . the words "on stream" echoed from place to place . . . and a new petroleum giant came to life. Oil pulsed through its arteries. And at Texas City, Texas, the world's largest multi-million dollar Ultraforming unit had begun creating the new Amoco-Gas.

From this mighty oil refinery has come a new, high-octane gas . . . made by a patented method, the most advanced known to science. A clear, white gas with such natural anti-knock quality that it is the only gas that meets modern car engine needs without the use of lead. It's the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas.

And this great new premium motor fuel couldn't have been born at a more appropriate time. It answers all the bewilderment about octane in a clear, simple way.

The Octane you've heard about—until now

The octane ratings you hear about are laboratory ratings. They are ratings obtained by adding lead. But lead doesn't all burn up. It leaves harmful deposits that can turn your engine into an octane trap—a trap that catches and wastes octane!

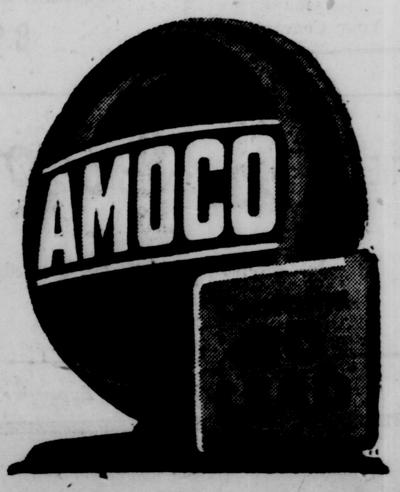

The Octane BONUS of the new, unleaded Amoco-Gas

Pure, no-lead Amoco-Gas can all burn—every drop. None is wasted fighting lead deposits. All its octane-energy can go to turn the wheels—it's all usable "road octane."

That's the only practical way to measure octane. That's why we say the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas gives you an Octane Bonus . . . on the road, where it counts.

Try it—it does something wonderful for your car!

The white gas with the
Octane BONUS!
Bonus Mileage—because it contains no lead!

And at Texas City, Texas, the world's largest multi-million dollar Ultraforming unit had begun creating the new Amoco-Gas.

From this mighty oil refinery has come a new, high-octane gas . . . made by a patented method, the most advanced known to science. A clear, white gas with such natural anti-knock quality that it is the only gas that meets modern car engine needs without the use of lead. It's the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas.

STANDARD ONE-CYLINDER LABORATORY TEST ENGINE
This universal "Octane Rating" engine accurately determines the octane rating of every gas—in the laboratory. It does not measure the harmful effects of lead deposits in an automobile engine.
It tells only half of octane story

THE REAL TEST ENGINE IS IN YOUR CAR ON THE ROAD!
You can only measure the usable octane value of any gas in an automobile engine in use. Here leaded gas can cause metallic deposits that waste octane. All the octane value of new no-lead Amoco-Gas is usable road octane—none is wasted. You get an Octane Bonus on the road.
Your car engine tells whole story

And this great new premium motor fuel couldn't have been born at a more appropriate time. It answers all the bewilderment about octane in a clear, simple way.

The Octane you've heard about—until now

The octane ratings you hear about are laboratory ratings. They are ratings obtained by adding lead. But lead doesn't all burn up. It leaves harmful deposits that can turn your engine into an octane trap—a trap that catches and wastes octane!

The Octane BONUS of the new, unleaded Amoco-Gas

Pure, no-lead Amoco-Gas can all burn—every drop. None is wasted fighting lead deposits. All its octane-energy can go to turn the wheels—it's all usable "road octane."

That's the only practical way to measure octane. That's why we say the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas gives you an Octane Bonus . . . on the road, where it counts.

Try it—it does something wonderful for your car!

The white gas with the
Octane BONUS!
Bonus Mileage—because it contains no lead!

AMOCO Contains NO LEAD

Miss Janet C. Wood, John S. Cross, Jr. Wed in Kentucky

Central Christian Church, Lexington, Ky., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Janet Carter Wood of Lexington, and John Sanford Cross, Jr., of Kyserike, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. Willard T. Carter of Hartford, Conn., uncle of the bride, officiated, assisted by Dr. Gentry Shelton of Central Christian Church, at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Forrest Wood of Lexington, Ky., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanford Cross of Kyserike.

Miss Justine Stinson of Ashland, Ky., a former college roommate of the bride, played a program of musical selections preceding the ceremony. The church decorations included palms, ferns, emerald leaves, smilax, white gladioli and candelabra with white wedding tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pearl white parchment satin, designed on princess lines, with a fitted bodice and a full skirt which terminated in a chapel train. Outlining the portrait neckline were folds of satin which were edged with heirloom lace and seed pearls. The long sleeves, tapering into points over the hands, were fastened with tiny satin covered buttons and also edged in lace. Her long double veil of imported illusion fell from a cap of lace matching that of the dress. She carried a bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids with stephanotis and variegated ivy, tied with shower ribbons and tulle.

The maid of honor, Miss Louise Wile of Lexington, Ky., wore a full skirted waltz length gown of aqua foam crystallette, fashioned with a slimly molded midriff dropping to a point in front. The scooped neckline, framed with small knife pleatings, formed tiny capped sleeves, cascading to wide double pleated panels in back, accented at the waist with a self trim bow. She wore a matching headdress of pleated crystallette and carried white Majestic daisies tied with satin ribbons matching the color of the dress.

The attendants were Miss Rebecca Bishop, Rainelle, W. Va., Miss Carolyn Collier, Lexington, Ky., Miss Betty Jo Martin, Lexington, Ky., and Miss Peggy Redd, Lexington, Ky. Their gowns and headdresses were identical to that worn by the maid of honor, and they carried identical bouquets.

Wessel Cross of Kyserike served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Asa Barns, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., Frank Richardson, Louisville, Ky., Thomas Proctor, Bowling Green, Ky., and J. C. Roberts, Frankfort, Ky.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Lexington Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Cross left on a wedding journey to The Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. On their return, they will live in Kyserike.

The bride graduated Monday, May 30, from the University of Kentucky where she was a member of the Chi Omega sorority.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He will be in business with his father.

SETTLING AN UNCERTAINTY

A letter from a young woman, explains: "Several months ago a friend of mine told me that she was going to be married the early part of July and said that she would like to have me as one of her bridesmaids. I was delighted with the idea. However, she hasn't mentioned another thing about it since that time. I hesitate to mention it to her as she may have changed her mind about me and this would only embarrass her. On the other hand, I would like to know whether or not I am going to take part. What would you advise in this situation?"

I think it would be best to settle this uncertainty by saying frankly, "Sally, dear, you haven't said anything more to me about being one of your bridesmaids and I am wondering if you still want me."

Artificial Flowers for Bridesmaids?

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine makes really beautiful artificial flower—in fact you can hardly tell them from the real. What would you think of using these perfect imitation flowers for the bridesmaids and bride's bouquet?

Answer: I am sorry, but living flowers are really essential for bouquets of the bride and bridesmaids. Artificial flowers, no matter how perfect, would not be suitable.

Pouring Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: I was taught, when pouring tea, to leave the cup on the tray and to keep my left hand in my lap. However, at several teas I have been to lately, the women pouring held the teacup aloft in the left hand while pouring with the right. I would be very pleased to hear from you which method is correct.

Answer: It is best, if you can manage to do it equally well, to leave the cup and saucer on the table or on the tray, as the case may be, while filling it.

How should the young men of a small wedding party be dressed? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-8, describes small weddings. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Party Leaders Give Views on Truman

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall has informally challenged Democrats to put former President Truman "on the campaign train" in 1956. He suggested this would help the GOP cause.

Democratic Chairman Paul Butler, appearing with Hall in a television debate yesterday, replied that Truman "certainly" will be on the train and will help bring a Democratic victory.

"When we come to 1956," Hall said, "the people are going to look at what we have here in this (Eisenhower) administration and they're going to compare it with what we had under Mr. Truman. They have memories. There isn't a doubt in my mind that they'll want to continue this administration."

Butler replied that he'd be happy to have the Truman record as an issue in next year's presidential campaign.

At this, Hall said, "put him on the campaign train."

And Butler said that "certainly Mr. Truman will be on the campaign train. He'll be carrying the message to the American people and the American people will respond with an overwhelming Democratic victory."

Rochester Men Held On Narcotics Charges

New York, June 6 (AP)—A father and son from Rochester, N. Y., are being held here under $10,000 bail each for a hearing June 10 on charges of illegal possession of narcotics.

Charles Galanti, 47, a truck driver, of 16 Lampson street, Rochester, and his son, Charles, Jr., 26, a metal worker, were stopped Saturday night at a toll booth on the Bronx-Whitestone bridge. Detective Charles Lamb of the narcotic squad said their car was searched and an ounce of what is believed to be pure heroin was found under the front seat. That amount of heroin it worth about $400, he added.

Arraigned with the Galantis yesterday and placed under the same bail on the same charge was Louis Inglese, 20, of East Harlem, whom police identified as a well-known dope pusher.

Lamb said the Galantis drove from Rochester to New York Saturday and went to see Inglese at his home. Their car was then trailed by police as they drove around, before it was finally stopped on the bridge, Lamb said.

Expect Sicilian Election to Prove Anti-Communist

Palermo, Sicily, June 6 (AP)—Sicilians counted a record flood of ballots today. Other NATO nations awaited the outcome as an indication of which way Italy's political currents are running.

The turnout of nearly 2,400,000 voters in the Sunday election was expected to favor the democratic center parties, which man Italy's national government also.

Yesterday's voting was to elect the island's semi-autonomous regional assembly. Of those eligible, 86.89 per cent voted. This was five per cent higher than in the last regional election, four years ago.

The job of counting began at 6 a. m. in nine regional centers.

MOST OBSERVERS expected the final results to show a drift away from the Communist left.

American voices played a big part in the election.

On the island where almost everybody has a relative in the United States, thousands of letters from the immigrant kinfolk urged the defeat of communism.

The main election day editorial in Palermo's biggest newspaper, Giornale Di Sicilia, was written in America. Copied from New York's Italian language newspaper Il Progresso, it appealed to the sicilians to beat communism now.

AMERICAN DOLLARS were another factor. During the campaign Italy received more than 120 million dollars in aid or loans to be spent in Sicily or other regions of Italy's poverty strapped south.

All the major Italian parties were in the contest.

The last regional assembly election was a neck and neck race. The Christian Democrats polled 31.21 per cent of the vote and the Communist-Socialist Alliance 30.22 per cent. The result in the 90-seat assembly was 30 seats for each of the two big groups, with other representation including Fascist MSI 11, Monarchists 10, Liberals 5, Social Democrats (anti-Communist Socialists) 3, Independents 1.

Joins New Family

Troy, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—Nine-year-old Kim Jong Koo today began learning the ways of America and how it feels to have a family again. The Korean war orphan arrived at his new home here last night after a day of sightseeing in New York and an automobile ride up the Hudson valley. Kim is able to understand English and speak the language a little, but he didn't have much to say in his obvious confusion. Asked how he liked the United States, Kim drew his toy six-shooter and anpounced that all cowboys were "fine."

Cyr Sentenced To Six Months For Hotel Bill

Raymond Cyr, 31, of Berme road, Ellenville, was sentenced to six months in jail by Police Justice Benjamin Lonstein of Ellenville on Saturday after Cyr pleaded guilty to a "fraud on an innkeeper" charge.

Cyr was one of two men accused by Ellenville police of lodging 50 carnival workers at the Wayside Inn, and failing to pay a $1,051.90 hotel bill for them.

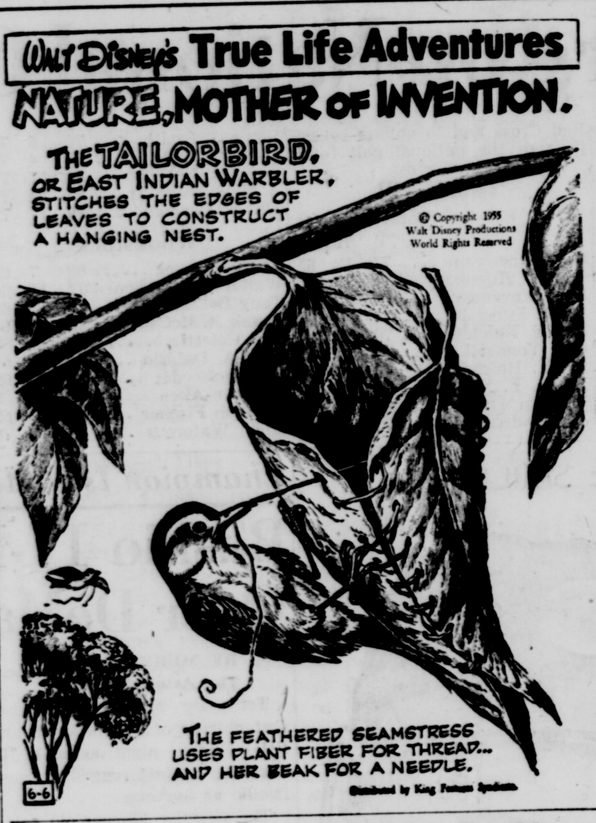

The other defendant, Emilo Spano, 37, of 305 West 46th street, New York, pleaded innocent to the charge and indicated he would engage an attorney for his defense. He was ordered held in $1,000 bail for a hearing before Justice Lonstein tonight.

Goldfish Causes Mishap

Great Falls, Mont., June 6 (AP)—A flopping goldfish caused Mrs. Rose Bryant to wreck her car and the result is a whopping damage bill. She said she lost control of her car when she tried to retrieve the flipping fish after it spilled out of a bowl when she turned a corner. Although she saved the fish, her car smashed into a parked auto. Patrolman Bill Steele said the damages to Mrs. Bryant's car totaled more than $300.

Lectures at Bard

Roger Huntington Sessions, noted composer and musician, will give the annual John Bard lecture for the Division of Music, Art, Drama and Dance at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, New York, on Tuesday, June 7th. Mr. Sessions' lecture, Music in the United States Today, will be presented in the college gymnasium at 8:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Degree in Robbery

Boston, June 6 (AP)—While Mrs. Helen V. Rose was receiving an honorary degree from Emerson College yesterday a thief was busy stealing $3,000 worth of her jewelry from a nearby cloakroom. The Newton housewife, a graduate of Emerson who is active in its speech clinic, had worn the jewelry but was advised it was customary not to wear any while receiving a degree. She placed the jewelry in a hatbox in the cloakroom. After receiving a master of arts degree, she discovered the jewelry and a handbag containing $24 had been stolen.

Another Brooklin

Block Island, R. I., June 6 (AP)—Miss Elizabeth May Swanscott was the entire graduating class at the high school here last night. Principal speaker at the baccalaureate service was her father, the Rev. Lew Swanscott, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Later this week, Miss Betty A. Pervear will be the lone 1955 graduate from the tiny high school at Brooklin, Maine, a small coastal community. Dr. Arnold Wolfers, professor of international relations at Yale University, agreed to deliver the commencement address at Brooklin.

Car Strikes Wall On Rt. 28; Four Escape Injury

Four occupants of an automobile escaped serious injury when the vehicle struck the stone wall on the Featherstone property along the Onteora Trail and was badly damaged about 2:55 a. m. Sunday, according to a sheriff's office report.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone said the automobile, driven by Kathie Joyce Mills, 20, of Sodus, N. Y., a Vassar College student, was headed toward Kingston when the right front tire blew and the car hit the wall, bounced off and turned over twice on the highway.

Two slap steps on the Featherstone property were broken, according to the report.

With Miss Mills in the automobile were Annesley Howland, Charles Berry and Steven McManarery, according to the report. Annesley Howland suffered a minor cut on her knee, but no other personal injuries were reported, Deputy Mayone said.

'Fugitive' Author Dies

East Orange, N. J., June 6 (AP)—Robert Elliott Burns, author of the book "I Was a Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang," died last night at the Veterans Hospital after a long illness. He was 65. Burns, of Union, N. J., was sentenced to prison for a five-dollar holdup in Atlanta, Ga., in 1922 and put on a chain gang. He said he was a hungry and jobless veteran of World War 1 when he accompanied a flophouse acquaintance to the grocery store robbery. He served only a fraction of his 6 to 10 year sentence. After two months on the chain gang, he escaped. He went north and seven years later was a $20,000 a year magazine editor in Chicago.

"Billy Graham will be among the first programs Londoners will see," Towers said. "He's been signed for a filmed series. As a matter of fact, about 75 per cent of the commercial programming will be on film."

TV's breeding a collection of gypsies. These are the poor fortunates who make large money appearing on programs on both coasts, but have to shuttle back and forth between New York and Los Angeles to do it.

Newest gypsy is Bill Goodwin, now running a quiz show on ABC-TV called "Penny To a Million." Bill is a Californian, complete with home, wife and four kids back on the old, smoggy sod. But "Penny" comes from New York, every week now, regular as electric bills. This, obviously, presents a problem.

What has happened is that Bill Goodwin spends four nights a week at home, and three nights a week in a room in a New York hotel, which is about as even as you can split a week these days. He checks into his hotel every Monday, does the show every Wednesday night, checks out Thursday morning. Then he checks in at home for four days.

He leaves some suits here, with the hotel valet. And he totes a suitcase about the size of a not-so-grand piano.

This sort of living isn't exactly what nature had in mind. The sudden changes of scenery and climate can be upsetting. Bill's been lucky; the show started in the spring. He isn't looking forward to the winter in New York. Somehow the prospect of a split-week snowstorm isn't too exciting.

"The worst of it," Bill says, "is missing the kids. But during the summer, I'm going to bring each of them with me for one trip."

New U. S. Stamp Series Announced By Summerfield

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Twelve subjects for the stamps still to be issued in the new ordinary postage stamp series were announced today by Postmaster General Summerfield.

The selections complete preliminary work on a changeover which will limit regular stamp issues to 18 denominations and cut out 14 others. The change is the first since 1938, when 32 denominations were issued.

Six of the new stamps already have been issued—the 1 through 5-cent ones, 1½-cent and the 8-cent two-colored Statue of Liberty stamp, the first of the new series to be put out. Descriptions and dates of issuance for the remaining 12 will be announced later.

Summerfield said inclusion of a 40-cent stamp in the group would make possible any mailing up to 60 cents with not more than two stamps.

The new 18-stamp series will include six with pictures of former presidents, six of other famous Americans, and six for historic shrines.

Discontinued, under the new plan, will be 14 stamps which Summerfield said account for less than one per cent of sales. They are the 4½-cent, 11 through 19-cent, 21, 22 and 24-cent and $2 denominations. No more of these will be printed after present supplies are exhausted.

The 12 new additions will show Theodore Roosevelt on the 6-cent stamp; Woodrow Wilson, 7-cent; Mount Vernon, 1½-cent; the Alamo, 9-cent; Independence Hall, 10-cent; Monticello, 20-cent; Benjamin Franklin, ½-cent; Robert E. Lee, 30-cent; John Marshall, 40-cent; Susan B. Anthony, 50-cent; Patrick Henry, $1; and Alexander Hamilton, $5.

Stamps already issued show George Washington on the 1-cent; Thomas Jefferson, 2-cent; Abraham Lincoln, 4-cent; James Monroe, 5-cent; the Statue of Liberty, 3-cent; and the Statue of Liberty in two colors, 8-cent.

At the conclusion of the meeting members and guests went to the Casablanca Restaurant where they enjoyed a steak dinner.

Guests included George Matthews, deputy fire chief, Frank Burr and Harold Van Bramer, fire commissioners, Rodney DuBois, Joseph Bruck and George McLean.

Czechs Grab American

Waidhaus, Germany, June 6 (AP)—West German border police today reported the arrest at this border point of an American sergeant by Czech frontier guards. They said the sergent and two soldier companions, apparently on a sight-seeing trip to the border, stepped near the West German-Czech frontier yesterday. Then the sergeant moved forward to take a picture of the Czech border hut.

Old Generator Works

Ithaca, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—A generator that charged the first permanent outdoor electric lighting system in the United States will hum again Saturday. The 79-year-old dynamo will be switched on at the dedication of Phillips Hall, a classroom-laboratory center for Cornell University's school of electrical engineering. Z. T. Gramme's dynamo was brought out in Paris in 1875. Prof. William A. Anthony of Cornell and George S. Moler, a senior, built a similar machine shortly afterward and exhibited it at the centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. Two years later, outdoor lighting was begun on the Cornell campus. The dynamo stood in Fall Creek gorge and was driven by a water wheel.

2-Year-Old Drives Car

East Providence, R. I., June 6 (AP)—The driver of a car involved in a two-car smashup yesterday was a 2-year-old boy, police discovered. The infant son of Thomas H. Carney spotted the keys to his father's car on the kitchen table. He carried them to the car, turned on the ignition and stepped on the starter. The car, apparently left in reverse gear, backed out of the driveway and into a parked car owned by Raymond E. Brouilliard of West Warwick, R. I. The youngster was not injured.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—A generator that charged the first permanent outdoor electric lighting system in the United States will hum again Saturday. The 79-year-old dynamo will be switched on at the dedication of Phillips Hall, a classroom-laboratory center for Cornell University's school of electrical engineering. Z. T. Gramme's dynamo was brought out in Paris in 1875. Prof. William A. Anthony of Cornell and George S. Moler, a senior, built a similar machine shortly afterward and exhibited it at the centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. Two years later, outdoor lighting was begun on the Cornell campus. The dynamo stood in Fall Creek gorge and was driven by a water wheel.

2-Year-Old Drives Car

East Providence, R. I., June 6 (AP) — The driver of a car involved in a two-car smashup yesterday was a 2-year-old boy, police discovered. The infant son of Thomas H. Carney spotted the keys to his father's car on the kitchen table. He carried them to the car, turned on the ignition and stepped on the starter. The car, apparently left in reverse gear, backed out of the driveway and into a parked car owned by Raymond E. Brouilliard of West Warwick, R. I. The youngster was not injured.

New U. S. Stamp Series Announced By Summerfield

Washington, June 6 (AP) — Twelve subjects for the stamps still to be issued in the new ordinary postage stamp series were announced today by Postmaster General Summerfield.

The selections complete preliminary work on a changeover which will limit regular stamp issues to 18 denominations and cut out 14 others. The change is the first since 1938, when 32 denominations were issued.

Six of the new stamps already have been issued—the 1 through 5-cent ones, 1½-cent and the 8-cent two-colored Statue of Liberty stamp, the first of the new series to be put out. Descriptions and dates of issuance for the remaining 12 will be announced later.

Summerfield said inclusion of a 40-cent stamp in the group would make possible any mailing up to 60 cents with not more than two stamps.

The new 18-stamp series will include six with pictures of former presidents, six of other famous Americans, and six for historic shrines.

Discontinued, under the new plan, will be 14 stamps which Summerfield said account for less than one per cent of sales. They are the 4½-cent, 11 through 19-cent, 21, 22 and 24-cent and $2 denominations. No more of these will be printed after present supplies are exhausted.

The 12 new additions will show Theodore Roosevelt on the 6-cent stamp; Woodrow Wilson, 7-cent; Mount Vernon, 1½-cent; the Alamo, 9-cent; Independence Hall, 10-cent; Monticello, 20-cent; Benjamin Franklin, ½-cent; Robert E. Lee, 30-cent; John Marshall, 40-cent; Susan B. Anthony, 50-cent; Patrick Henry, $1; and Alexander Hamilton, $5.

Stamps already issued show George Washington on the 1-cent; Thomas Jefferson, 2-cent; Abraham Lincoln, 4-cent; James Monroe, 5-cent; the Statue of Liberty, 3-cent; and the Statue of Liberty in two colors, 8-cent.

At the conclusion of the meeting members and guests went to the Casablanca Restaurant where they enjoyed a steak dinner.

Guests included George Matthews, deputy fire chief, Frank Burr and Harold Van Bramer, fire commissioners, Rodney DuBois, Joseph Bruck and George McLean.

Czechs Grab American

Waidhaus, Germany, June 6 (AP)—West German border police today reported the arrest at this border point of an American sergeant by Czech frontier guards. They said the sergent and two soldier companions, apparently on a sight-seeing trip to the border, stepped near the West German-Czech frontier yesterday. Then the sergeant moved forward to take a picture of the Czech border hut.

38 County Golfers Beat Furgol and Berg on National Golf Day

A record total of 38 Ulster county golfers beat or tied U. S. Open golf champion, Ed Furgol, and Patty Berg on National Golf Day Saturday.

The total of 129 entries also set a record for the county.

Woodstock Country Club led with 65 entries. Twaalfskill had 50 and Shawangunk of Ellenville had 15 players.

The scores were the highest since National Golf Day was instituted and that accounted for the large number of winners. Furgol posted a 72 and Miss Berg a 77 Saturday at the Olympic Country Club at San Francisco.

WOODSTOCK CC reported 19 winners, Twaalfskill 15 and Ellenville 4.

Mrs. Anthony DeLisio led the ladies contingent with a net 69 at Woodstock. She posted an 83 with 14 handicap.

Other women winners included Mrs. Paul Perlman (73), Doris Murray (74), Mrs. Helen Dendy and Mrs. Jessie Burnett with 75s at Woodstock.

Lowest net score reported in the county was the 59 hung up by William Eckert on Shawangunk's par-66 at Ellenville. Eckert, who had never broken 90 in his life, fired an 86 and had 27 handicap.

Second lowest net score was the 62 posted by August Torres at Woodstock. He put together nines of 34 and 35 for gross 69, lowest of the day, had 7 handicap. Other low gross medals were the 70s shot by Bill Van Aken at Wodstock and Clarence "Dubby" Raichle at Twaalfskill.

MIKE SCHIFF of Detroit's Tam O'Shanter club turned in the lowest net score of the more than 190,000 golfers who paid one dolar each for the privilege of trying to beat Furgol and Miss Berg.

Schiff posted a gross score of 86, which with his 33 handicap gave him a net of 53. Second, according to reports received at National Golf Day headquarters, was Dave Rundle, who had an 81-26-55 at the Airways Golf Course, Fresno, Calif.

David Meyers, playing at the Ledgemont Country Club, R. I., shot 86-29-57 and Charles Knox of the Bob-O-Link Club, Northville, Mich., a 67-10-57.

Lowest woman's score recorded so far was a 72-10-62 by Betty Jane Bobel, playing at the Gloucester, Mass., Country Club. Two Appleton, Wis., women, Mrs. Howard Crabb and Mrs. Robert Martin, posted nets of 65 and 66, respectively, to win their "I Beat Patty Berg" medals.

Life magazine, which with the PGA, sponsored the competition, estimated close to 35,000 golfers beat Furgol and Miss Berg. The money, paid in fees, goes to the Red Cross and to golfing causes through the national golf fund.

National Dirt Track Champion Killed at Des Moines

Des Moines, June 6 (AP)—Bob Slater, 29-year-old national dirt track champion, was killed yesterday on the same track where he began big car racing four years ago.

Slater, of Kansas City, was the fourth driver killed on the Iowa Fairgrounds dirt track since September, 1951.

The 50-mile feature race was 2 minutes 54 seconds old when Slater's blue Offenhauser roared into a curve and slammed into a retaining wall. He died of multiple fractures.

Slater's wife, Mary Lou, was among the 12,000 persons who witnessed the accident.

Jud Larson, 32, Austin, Tex., transport truck driver, went on to win the race in 45:21.82, an international Motor Contest Assn. record for the distance.

Louise Suggs Cops Women's Eastern

Reading, Pa., June 6 (AP)—It didn't take too much good golf to win the 1955 Women's Eastern Open golf tournament — Louise Suggs managed to make one good round earn her the $1,000 first prize.

The Sea Island, Ga., professional trailed Faye Crocker, of Montevideo, Uruguay throughout the first three rounds of the 72-hole tournament but when the chips were down yesterday she sank a 12-foot putt to close out the final 18 with a two under par 69 and capture the $5,000 tourney.

Hot Putter Gives Snead Victory in Round Robin

Great Neck, June 6 (AP)—Sam Snead has adopted a new putting technique which may crush his longtime jinx in the National Open golf championship.

"I'm not making any predictions about San Francisco but I'm putting better than any time I can remember," the hard-luck West Virginian said today. "I feel real good."

Putting, once the source of all of Sam's golfing woes, plus brilliant iron play carried Snead to a runaway victory in the round robin golf tournament yesterday at Deepdale—his fourth title in the event.

Sam Snead

HE CLIMAXED the five-round week-end with a course record-breaking 65 which gave him a total of 46 points—24 over his closest pursuer in the 16-man field, Johnny Palmer, who finished with plus 22.

Only once did his putter fail him. That was on the final hole when he three-putterd from 30 feet, missing a simple three-footer which would have given him a 64. He sank birdie putts of 12 and 25 feet and left two other long, snaking rollers hanging at the cup but his real mastery was over the five and six-footers—the kind he used to miss.

He had six birdies and four of them came of putts of this length.

"I've changed my way of putting," Snead explained. "I now forget the hole entirely. I spot putt. That is, I pick a spot a few inches in front of my ball and aim for that instead of the hole.

"I PRACTICED this down home (White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.) I tried 30 putts from 10 feet and sank 28 of them. Then I changed my line to a point I'd have to go over a little hump. This time I sank 25 out of 30."

Snead plans to leave Tuesday for San Francisco to begin prepping for the Open June 16-18—the big one he's never won. He was runnerup three times, blew another when he took an eight on the final hole and missed a 31-inch putt in a playoff with Lew Worsham in 1947.

Sam played superb golf at Deepdale, finishing the 90 holes at 339—eleven under par.

Snead's first place prize was $3,000 with $2,000 going to runnerup Palmer. Peter Thomson of Australia, the British Open champion, was third at plus 19, followed by Marty Furgol, plus 11; Doug Ford, plus 2, and Masters Champion Cary Middlecoff and Ted Kroll, even.

Champion Is Underdog

Basilio 17-10 Choice Over DeMarco Friday

BY MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Tony De Marco makes the first defense of his welterweight title Friday night as a 17-10 underdog against rugged Carmen Basilio at Syracuse.

The swarthy, 23-year old titleholder from Boston is invading the home grounds of the 28-year old challenger from Canastota, N. Y. The reason for holding the fight in the upstate New York city is financial and both gladiators will do handsomely.

ONLY A FEW DAYS after the match was made, the 9,400 seats of the war memorial auditorium were sold out to the tune of $115,000. The radio and television network coverage (NBC TV and radio) for the 9 p. m. (EST) 15-rounder will add approximately $50,000 more to the receipts. Syracuse, Rochester, Binghamton, and Utica will be blacked out of the telecast.

De Marco, who received practically nothing when he won the title from Johnny Saxton in Boston, April 1, will collect 40 per cent of the net gate and air receipts. Basilio will receive 20 per cent.

Both carry long unbeaten streaks into the battle. De Marco has won 16 bouts and drew in another with lightweight king Jimmy Carter over the past two years. Basilio has hung up a string of nine wins and two draws since he narrowly lost to Kid Gavilan in his first attempt at the championship on Sept. 18, 1953.

HARDY (BAZOOKA) Smallwood, a 22-year old Brooklyn veteran of the Korean battling, subs for injured Jackie La Bua tonight against free-swinging Rafael Merentino of Argentina in a middleweight 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena (9 p. m., EST, Dumont-TV).

Johnny Holman, the clouting Chicago heavyweight who kayoed Ezzard Charles in the ninth round last April 27, will try to show it was no fluke on Wednesday night when he meets the ex-heavyweight boss in a return at Cincinnati (9 p. m., EST, ABC-TV and radio).

The bout is listed for 10 rounds.

"Where are you going with my Chrysler?"

He's like any normal husband with a new Chrysler in the family. He's learning why more wives "borrow" it than any other car!

It seems that once a wife or husband gets to know the ease and control of Chrysler's Full-time Power steering, any semi-power steering feels clumsy and heavy-handed. They both prefer Chrysler's smoother-acting Power Brakes . . . and the alive feeling of unlimited power in Chrysler's great new V8 engines!

They like the utter smoothness and silence of PowerFlite Automatic Drive . . . and most of all they enjoy being seen and admired in America's most smartly different car!

Now two Chryslers would really keep a family like this happy. Nevertheless, they'd be the first to tell you that one is a thousand times better than none at all. That's why we urge you to come in for a personal look-see, and a drive.

38 County Golfers Beat Furgol and Berg on National Golf Day

A record total of 38 Ulster county golfers beat or tied U. S. Open golf champion, Ed Furgol, and Patty Berg on National Golf Day Saturday.

The total of 129 entries also set a record for the county.

Woodstock Country Club led with 65 entries. Twaalfskill had 50 and Shawangunk of Ellenville had 15 players.

The scores were the highest since National Golf Day was instituted and that accounted for the large number of winners. Furgol posted a 72 and Miss Berg a 77 Saturday at the Olympic Country Club at San Francisco.

WOODSTOCK CC reported 19 winners, Twaalfskill 15 and Ellenville 4.

Mrs. Anthony DeLisio led the ladies contingent with a net 69 at Woodstock. She posted an 83 with 14 handicap.

Other women winners included Mrs. Paul Perlman (73), Doris Murray (74), Mrs. Helen Dendy and Mrs. Jessie Burnett with 75s at Woodstock.

Lowest net score reported in the county was the 59 hung up by William Eckert on Shawangunk's par-66 at Ellenville. Eckert, who had never broken 90 in his life, fired an 86 and had 27 handicap.

Second lowest net score was the 62 posted by August Torres at Woodstock. He put together nines of 34 and 35 for gross 69, lowest of the day, had 7 handicap. Other low gross medals were the 70s shot by Bill Van Aken at Wodstock and Clarence "Dubby" Raichle at Twaalfskill.

MIKE SCHIFF of Detroit's Tam O'Shanter club turned in the lowest net score of the more than 190,000 golfers who paid one dolar each for the privilege of trying to beat Furgol and Miss Berg.

Schiff posted a gross score of 86, which with his 33 handicap gave him a net of 53. Second, according to reports received at National Golf Day headquarters, was Dave Rundle, who had an 81-26-55 at the Airways Golf Course, Fresno, Calif.

David Meyers, playing at the Ledgemont Country Club, R. I., shot 86-29-57 and Charles Knox of the Bob-O-Link Club, Northville, Mich., a 67-10-57.

Lowest woman's score recorded so far was a 72-10-62 by Betty Jane Bobel, playing at the Gloucester, Mass., Country Club. Two Appleton, Wis., women, Mrs. Howard Crabb and Mrs. Robert Martin, posted nets of 65 and 66, respectively, to win their "I Beat Patty Berg" medals.

Life magazine, which with the PGA, sponsored the competition, estimated close to 35,000 golfers beat Furgol and Miss Berg. The money, paid in fees, goes to the Red Cross and to golfing causes through the national golf fund.

National Dirt Track Champion Killed at Des Moines

Des Moines, June 6 (AP)—Bob Slater, 29-year-old national dirt track champion, was killed yesterday on the same track where he began big car racing four years ago.

Slater, of Kansas City, was the fourth driver killed on the Iowa Fairgrounds dirt track since September, 1951.

Slater's wife, Mary Lou, was among the 12,000 persons who witnessed the accident.

Jud Larson, 32, Austin, Tex., transport truck driver, went on to win the race in 45:21.82, an international Motor Contest Assn. record for the distance.

The Sea Island, Ga., professional trailed Faye Crocker, of Montevideo, Uruguay throughout the first three rounds of the 72-hole tournament but when the chips were down yesterday she sank a 12-foot putt to close out the final 18 with a two under par 69 and capture the $5,000 tourney.

Hot Putter Gives Snead Victory in Round Robin

Great Neck, June 6 (AP)—Sam Snead has adopted a new putting technique which may crush his longtime jinx in the National Open golf championship.

"I'm not making any predictions about San Francisco but I'm putting better than any time I can remember," the hard-luck West Virginian said today. "I feel real good."

Putting, once the source of all of Sam's golfing woes, plus brilliant iron play carried Snead to a runaway victory in the round robin golf tournament yesterday at Deepdale—his fourth title in the event.

Sam Snead

HE CLIMAXED the five-round week-end with a course record-breaking 65 which gave him a total of 46 points—24 over his closest pursuer in the 16-man field, Johnny Palmer, who finished with plus 22.

Only once did his putter fail him. That was on the final hole when he three-putterd from 30 feet, missing a simple three-footer which would have given him a 64. He sank birdie putts of 12 and 25 feet and left two other long, snaking rollers hanging at the cup but his real mastery was over the five and six-footers—the kind he used to miss.

He had six birdies and four of them came of putts of this length.

"I've changed my way of putting," Snead explained. "I now forget the hole entirely. I spot putt. That is, I pick a spot a few inches in front of my ball and aim for that instead of the hole.

"I PRACTICED this down home (White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.) I tried 30 putts from 10 feet and sank 28 of them. Then I changed my line to a point I'd have to go over a little hump. This time I sank 25 out of 30."

Snead plans to leave Tuesday for San Francisco to begin prepping for the Open June 16-18—the big one he's never won. He was runnerup three times, blew another when he took an eight on the final hole and missed a 31-inch putt in a playoff with Lew Worsham in 1947.

Sam played superb golf at Deepdale, finishing the 90 holes at 339—eleven under par.

Snead's first place prize was $3,000 with $2,000 going to runnerup Palmer. Peter Thomson of Australia, the British Open champion, was third at plus 19, followed by Marty Furgol, plus 11; Doug Ford, plus 2, and Masters Champion Cary Middlecoff and Ted Kroll, even.

Basilio 17-10 Choice Over DeMarco Friday

BY MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Tony De Marco makes the first defense of his welterweight title Friday night as a 17-10 underdog against rugged Carmen Basilio at Syracuse.

The swarthy, 23-year old titleholder from Boston is invading the home grounds of the 28-year old challenger from Canastota, N. Y. The reason for holding the fight in the upstate New York city is financial and both gladiators will do handsomely.

ONLY A FEW DAYS after the match was made, the 9,400 seats of the war memorial auditorium were sold out to the tune of $115,000. The radio and television network coverage (NBC TV and radio) for the 9 p. m. (EST) 15-rounder will add approximately $50,000 more to the receipts. Syracuse, Rochester, Binghamton, and Utica will be blacked out of the telecast.

De Marco, who received practically nothing when he won the title from Johnny Saxton in Boston, April 1, will collect 40 per cent of the net gate and air receipts. Basilio will receive 20 per cent.

Both carry long unbeaten streaks into the battle. De Marco has won 16 bouts and drew in another with lightweight king Jimmy Carter over the past two years. Basilio has hung up a string of nine wins and two draws since he narrowly lost to Kid Gavilan in his first attempt at the championship on Sept. 18, 1953.

HARDY (BAZOOKA) Smallwood, a 22-year old Brooklyn veteran of the Korean battling, subs for injured Jackie La Bua tonight against free-swinging Rafael Merentino of Argentina in a middleweight 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena (9 p. m., EST, Dumont-TV).

Johnny Holman, the clouting Chicago heavyweight who kayoed Ezzard Charles in the ninth round last April 27, will try to show it was no fluke on Wednesday night when he meets the ex-heavyweight boss in a return at Cincinnati (9 p. m., EST, ABC-TV and radio).

The bout is listed for 10 rounds.

"Where are you going with my Chrysler?"

He's like any normal husband with a new Chrysler in the family. He's learning why more wives "borrow" it than any other car!

It seems that once a wife or husband gets to know the ease and control of Chrysler's Full-time Power steering, any semi-power steering feels clumsy and heavy-handed. They both prefer Chrysler's smoother-acting Power Brakes . . . and the alive feeling of unlimited power in Chrysler's great new V8 engines!

They like the utter smoothness and silence of PowerFlite Automatic Drive . . . and most of all they enjoy being seen and admired in America's most smartly different car!

Now two Chryslers would really keep a family like this happy. Nevertheless, they'd be the first to tell you that one is a thousand times better than none at all. That's why we urge you to come in for a personal look-see, and a drive.

Milton Gross, the astute metropolitan sports columnist, once said Robert Trent Jones, the master golf architect, is to the touring golf professionals what the mongoose is to the cobra.

The famous golf course builder is currently in San Francisco "toughening up" the Olympic CC layout for the U. S. Open which starts June 16.

The United States Golf Association annually hires Jones, who is building the Wiltwyck layout in Kingston, to doctor up the site of the U. S. Open. The USGA wants no cheap courses.

Trent will be marked down in USGA history as the most fiendish spawn of the devil. When he "changed over" the rugged Oakland Hills in Detroit, the pros promptly dubbed it Oakland Hells.

This time says Mr. Jones, four par rounds of 72, or 288 strokes, will win. "Because," says Robert Trent, "there are going to be a lot of 78s and 79s." Ed Furgol won last year at Baltusrol with 284.

Harmon caddied for Sarazen as a youngster in Westchester county. . . . Harness racing season opens in Saratoga on June 13. . . . Kingston will be honored with a trotting event at Saratoga Raceway on Friday, Aug. 26. . . . Jim McCabe's Locksie's Princess is entered in two races at the Spa this year. • Kenny Barr at Gloversville:

Kenny Barr of Kingston will be one of the featured fighters at the new Glovers Park in Gloversville Tuesday night. The Adirondack AAU Golden Glove Novice champion is undefeated in 16 bouts and has 11 knockouts to his credit. He faces his toughest opponent to date in Ronnie Bouse of Utica. . . . The state of boxing: Jack Dempsey was travelling from Chicago to New York while the Marciano-Cockell fight was in progress . . . not interested enough to arrange his plans so that he could even see it on theatre TV. . . . THE SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND
(The Associated Press)

These are hard days for the New York Giants. Leo Durocher, the master strategist, has lost the golden touch. The daring leader who always called for the right pitcher and the pinch home run in 1954 has misplaced the combination.

If he yanked a staggering pitcher with a shutout in his grasp last year, the bullpen was sure to produce the rally-stopper. But the cruel world of 1955 has turned its back on Durocher's Giants.

TAKE YESTERDAY, for instance. It seemed like old times when Dusty Rhodes smote a pinch single to win the opener from Chicago 3-2. Even if it wasn't a homer, like Dusty always produced last year, it was enough to please the customers.

But the things that happened in the second game seldom happened in 1954. Jim Hearn was rolling along with a 1-0 lead, thanks to Bobby Hofman's homer, and seemed on the way to becoming the first Giant to pitch a shut out this season.

With two out in the ninth, Hearn slipped. A single by Ernie Banks and a walk to Dee Fondy meant trouble. When Manager Stan Hack sent up Frankie Baumholtz to bat for his catcher, Clyde McCullough, Durocher's bullpen men were heating up. Leo let Hearn throw two balls to Baumholtz and then decided to take him out, shutout or no. Marx Grissom, who always got him out of jams last year, came to the rescue.

But the magic wasn't there.

Baumholtz hit Grissom's first pitch into the right field seats and that was the ball game 3-1.

BECAUSE BROOKLYN also split two with St. Louis, dropping the first in 10 innings 9-4 and bouncing back to win the second 10-6, the Giants didn't lose any ground.

In fact, it was a day of splits in both leagues. Everybody played two and everybody split, except Milwaukee and the Phillies. They probably would have finished all even, too, except for the Pennsylvania curfew. Milwaukee won the first game 5-4, but the Phillies were on top 4-0 in the seventh innig of the "suspended" second game. They'll finish that game tonight before their regularly scheduled contest.

Pittsburgh shaded Cincinnati 7-6 on Ramon Mejia's ninth-inning single, but the Redlegs grabbed the second game 5-1 with little Jackie Collum going all the way.

After the heavy firing was over in the American League, Casey Stengle's New York Yankees still were four games in front of Cleveland. Billy Hunter's inside-the-park homer in the 10th enabled the Yanks to square matters with Chicago in the second game 3-2 after Jim Rivera's grand slam home run and Dick Donovan's five-hit pitching won the first for the White Sox 5-3.

WASHINGTON used Cleveland errors to thump Bobby Feller 6-4, but the Indians finally caught up with the Senators in the second game 6-3 after losing three straight to the second division club.

Rookie Duke Maas of Detroit shut out Baltimore with three singles 10-0 in the first game. The Orioles snapped a seven-game losing streak in the finale 6-5 as Cal Abrams rapped a two-run homer and a triple.

Kansas City won 5-4 and then lost to Boston 4-3 in a doubleheader delayed over an hour by rain. Hector Lopez's single in the 10th gave the A's the first game. Jackie Jensen threw out the tying run at the plate to save the decision for the Red Sox in the ninth inning of the second.

In that doubleheader at the Polo Grounds, Sal Maglie won his seventh straight by scattering seven hits in the opener. Rhodes' pinch hit drove in Whitey Lockman, who scored all the Giant runs.

ROOKIE KEN Boyer tied the first game at Brooklyn with a homer in the ninth and hit another with two on in the 10th when the Cardinals sewed it up with five runs off Jim Hughes. Eleven Dodgers went to bat in the fourth inning of the second game to score six runs.

Home runs accounted for all but one run in Chicago where the Yanks and White Sox divided. Andy Carey, Mickey Mantle and Hunter homered for the Yanks in the second and Chico Carrasquel for the sox. In the first game Rivera and Sherman Lollar of Chicago and Carey and Gil McDougald of the Yanks connected for homers.

One thing hasn't changed since Washington slept here—human nature!

*Videotown is New Brunswick, New Jersey, a place of considerable historic background and a typical American community. It was chosen by the Cunningham and Walsh advertising agency as a laboratory for the study of the growth of television and its impact on American social habits.

The study, begun in 1948, shows that TV had been cutting deeply into normal daily routines, except for one—newspaper reading.

Videotown TV owners spend more time with newspapers each week than before TV.

Why does newspaper reading become ever more popular? Because newspaper reading is as natural as breathing—and, so far, nothing has come along to replace either one. Matter of fact, latest U. S. circulation figures show newspapers at an all-time high of 55,072,480, up 600,000 in one year.

Nothing comes close to newspapers as America's Number One advertising medium. Advertisers placed more money in newspapers last year than in television, radio, magazines and outdoor—combined!

Full Story About Cardinal May Remain Secret

South Bend, Ind., June 6 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said yesterday the world may never know the full story of the imprisonment of Catholic Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary because the Communists have liquidated the persons closely connected with the case.

"Dead men tell no tales, and this was one tale the Communists wanted to hide forever," Brownell told the class of 1,000 at the 110th commencement at the University of Notre Dame.

BROWNELL SAID persons liquidated included three ministers of the interior, key witnesses, secret police who arrested Mindszenty, interrogators who questioned him and a minister of justice. Mindszenty was sent to prison after what Brownell called "a mockery of a trial" for treason.

The attorney general reported "worthwhile results" from an American "escapee program," aiding 50,000 persons who have escaped from behind the Iron Curtain. He said each successful escape is "a bright ray of hope" to those left behind.

Brownell, a Methodist, received honorary doctor of laws degree from the Catholic school.

Brownell also said in an interview that the Justice Department might accept a mutual agreement instead of a consent decree to end its anti-trust suit against newspaper publishers and advertising agencies.

THE SUIT charged that members of American Assn. of Advertising Agencies agreed to charge commissions of 15 per cent in placing ads. Other defendants are the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., Publishers Assn. of New York City, Associated Business Publications Inc., Periodical Publishers Assn. of America, and Agricultural Publishers Assn.

8,500 Hear

preached to some 600 persons in the American Episcopal Cathedral in Paris.

The pro-Communist newspaper Liberation called on Graham today "to take his circus back on the other side of the ocean as soon as possible," in the interest of faith.

"FAITH RUNS the risk of being seriously compromised if he lowers it to the role of a weapon in the cold war," the paper added.

Only one other Paris newspaper commented on the evangelist. The independent L'Aurore in a short account of the first meeting said the Baptist preacher's methods "are more in the style of an electoral campaign than of a sermon."

Liberation pictured Graham as a "pin-up boy" who rewrote the gospels "in comic strips" and made "a superman" of Christ to make himself understood by middle-class Americans.

"HE HAS DEEP eyes, an inspired attitude, studied gestures and the elegance of a man who does not dress in hand-me-downs. It is true that with a monthly salary of 400,000 francs ($1,142) he can afford it," Liberation continued.

This newspaper said that contrary to expectations Graham showed "remarkable prudence" for his first appearance yesterday.

"MAYBE HE realized that in an old country like ours he should leave aside methods which are valid only in the Far West," Liberation said. But it aded: "His street-hawker style appeared near the end when he said 'you cannot waste a single minute to receive Christ.'"

Liberation said it almost expected him to add: "Hurry up. There won't be enough for everybody."

Graham could not be reached immediately for comment.

Death Rate

brain strokes and other causes of death to take second place.

Pipe smoking "appears to be associated with lung cancer" but far less than cigarettes. Last year, little evidence had been found in this study to point to any danger in pipe smoking.

Cigar smoking still does not show any significant association with lung cancer, in this study.

Speaking for the tobacco industry committee, Hartnett said "statistical experts point out that this study ignores important environmental, geographical, occupational, physical and emotional factors that affect disease and longevity."

He said that in his opinion "it is obvious that cancer authorities realize no link has been proven and do not accept this study in statistics as the answer to the lung cancer problem."

Father Awaits Son

Hillsboro, Miss., June 6 (AP)—The father of former army Cpl. O. G. Bell hopes his son will return home from Red China "no matter what happens." Bell, 24, captured in Korea in 1950, chose to remain behind the Iron Curtain when prisoners of war were exchanged. Now his letters indicate he has changed his mind.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Jewish Leader Urges Peace Move

Monticello, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower has been urged by a Jewish convention speaker, to adopt what he termed "a policy of real dynamic leadership" in seeking peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Samuel E. Cooper, a city councilman of Newark, N. J., addressing the 46th annual convention of B'nai Zion yesterday, said the state department now has a policy "of giving outright military support to the Arab states." This, he said, "not only fosters . . . partisan support but menaces Israel and its democratic ideology."

He said that the President "by assuming direct and vigorous leadership . . . can point the way for economic aid to both Israel and the Arab states that will build for a spirit of accord that will find communism properly discredited in any appeal it may seek to make."

Yehuda Harry Levin, counsellor at the Israel Embassy in Washington, told the 500 delegates of the American Zionist fraternal organization from 22 states that Israel is eager "at any time to sit down and work out an honorable peace with the Arab states."

"We are convinced," he continued, "that there are no problems that cannot be resolved by direct negotiations."

Full Story About Cardinal May Remain Secret

South Bend, Ind., June 6 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said yesterday the world may never know the full story of the imprisonment of Catholic Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary because the Communists have liquidated the persons closely connected with the case.

"Dead men tell no tales, and this was one tale the Communists wanted to hide forever," Brownell told the class of 1,000 at the 110th commencement at the University of Notre Dame.

BROWNELL SAID persons liquidated included three ministers of the interior, key witnesses, secret police who arrested Mindszenty, interrogators who questioned him and a minister of justice. Mindszenty was sent to prison after what Brownell called "a mockery of a trial" for treason.

The attorney general reported "worthwhile results" from an American "escapee program," aiding 50,000 persons who have escaped from behind the Iron Curtain. He said each successful escape is "a bright ray of hope" to those left behind.

Brownell, a Methodist, received honorary doctor of laws degree from the Catholic school.

Brownell also said in an interview that the Justice Department might accept a mutual agreement instead of a consent decree to end its anti-trust suit against newspaper publishers and advertising agencies.

THE SUIT charged that members of American Assn. of Advertising Agencies agreed to charge commissions of 15 per cent in placing ads. Other defendants are the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., Publishers Assn. of New York City, Associated Business Publications Inc., Periodical Publishers Assn. of America, and Agricultural Publishers Assn.

8,500 Hear

preached to some 600 persons in the American Episcopal Cathedral in Paris.

The pro-Communist newspaper Liberation called on Graham today "to take his circus back on the other side of the ocean as soon as possible," in the interest of faith.

"FAITH RUNS the risk of being seriously compromised if he lowers it to the role of a weapon in the cold war," the paper added.

Only one other Paris newspaper commented on the evangelist. The independent L'Aurore in a short account of the first meeting said the Baptist preacher's methods "are more in the style of an electoral campaign than of a sermon."

Liberation pictured Graham as a "pin-up boy" who rewrote the gospels "in comic strips" and made "a superman" of Christ to make himself understood by middle-class Americans.

"HE HAS DEEP eyes, an inspired attitude, studied gestures and the elegance of a man who does not dress in hand-me-downs. It is true that with a monthly salary of 400,000 francs ($1,142) he can afford it," Liberation continued.

This newspaper said that contrary to expectations Graham showed "remarkable prudence" for his first appearance yesterday.

"MAYBE HE realized that in an old country like ours he should leave aside methods which are valid only in the Far West," Liberation said. But it added: "His street-hawker style appeared near the end when he said 'you cannot waste a single minute to receive Christ.'"

Liberation said it almost expected him to add: "Hurry up. There won't be enough for everybody."

Graham could not be reached immediately for comment.

Death Rate

brain strokes and other causes of death to take second place.

Pipe smoking "appears to be associated with lung cancer" but far less than cigarettes. Last year, little evidence had been found in this study to point to any danger in pipe smoking.

Cigar smoking still does not show any significant association with lung cancer, in this study.

Speaking for the tobacco industry committee, Hartnett said "statistical experts point out that this study ignores important environmental, geographical, occupational, physical and emotional factors that affect disease and longevity."

He said that in his opinion "it is obvious that cancer authorities realize no link has been proven and do not accept this study in statistics as the answer to the lung cancer problem."

Father Awaits Son

Hillsboro, Miss., June 6 (AP)—The father of former army Cpl. O. G. Bell hopes his son will return home from Red China "no matter what happens." Bell, 24, captured in Korea in 1950, chose to remain behind the Iron Curtain when prisoners of war were exchanged. Now his letters indicate he has changed his mind.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Jewish Leader Urges Peace Move

Monticello, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower has been urged by a Jewish convention speaker, to adopt what he termed "a policy of real dynamic leadership" in seeking peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Samuel E. Cooper, a city councilman of Newark, N. J., addressing the 46th annual convention of B'nai Zion yesterday, said the state department now has a policy "of giving outright military support to the Arab states." This, he said, "not only fosters . . . partisan support but menaces Israel and its democratic ideology."

He said that the President "by assuming direct and vigorous leadership . . . can point the way for economic aid to both Israel and the Arab states that will build for a spirit of accord that will find communism properly discredited in any appeal it may seek to make."

Yehuda Harry Levin, counsellor at the Israel Embassy in Washington, told the 500 delegates of the American Zionist fraternal organization from 22 states that Israel is eager "at any time to sit down and work out an honorable peace with the Arab states."

"We are convinced," he continued, "that there are no problems that cannot be resolved by direct negotiations."

Tacked Out of Job

Tampa, Fla. (AP)—A man who had been a cobbler for 30 years asked the Florida State Employment Service to help him get started in another occupation. Most cobblers, he said, hold tacks in their mouths while working, spitting out tacks as needed. Over the years, he had gulped too often when he should have spat. He produced X-rays to show the large collection of tacks in his digestive tract. He now works happily on a label machine in a canning factory.

ARRIVES FOR REUNION AT WEST POINT—President Eisenhower is escorted to troop guard of honor on his arrival at Stewart Air Force Base near U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., (June 5) for 40th reunion of his class at The Point. Escorting him is Maj. Gen. Morris R. Nelson, commanding officer of Eastern Air Defense Force. (AP Wirephoto).

Scarsdale Student Shoots Self at Lehigh

Bethlehem, Pa., June 6 (AP)—A 21-year-old college senior shot and killed himself Saturday after being ordered from a room where he was taking a final examination.

Deputy Coroner George Kametz said the victim shot himself in the head with an automatic revolver as he sat in his parked convertible near Lehigh University.

The body of Sherwin P. Arons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Arons, 11 Dolme road, Scarsdale, N. Y., was discovered by pedestrians.

A university spokesman said Arons, who was majoring in business administration, was taking an examination in "wills, estates and trusts" with Professor Thomas Kubelius, assistant professor of law.

Det. Ralph Flemming quoted Kubelius as saying he found Arons using crib notes. In line with university regulations, Kubelius was quoted as saying, he ordered Arons to leave the room.

Friends who had lunch with Arons before the examination told Flemming he had shown concern over his test and the fact that he was being drafted into the army next week.

Won't Break With West

Tokyo, June 6 (AP) — Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama reiterated today Japan would not pursue friendship with the Soviet Union at the expense of existing ties with the western democracies. "I intend to maintain cooperative relations with the free nation bloc," he told the Diet's (Parliament's) lower house budget committee. The comment was aimed at questions concerning reports Russia would seek to "neutralize" Japan in World War 2 peace talks underway in London.

Not Intellectual Giant

Hiram, Ohio, June 6 (AP)—Davy Crockett was okay but not an intellectual giant, Hiram College graduates were told last night. Commencement speaker Dr. Raymond Walters, retiring University of Cincinnati president, said today's cult of Davy Crockett is an "amazing and amusing" recurrence of pioneer tradition. But, he added: "Today with scattered outbursts of anti-intellectualism, we need emphasis upon the intellectual standards which represented the true patriotism of our founding fathers."

Sleepless Bandit Gives Priest Loot From Store Theft

Dayton, Ohio, June 6 (AP)—A repentant bandit who "couldn't sleep all night" gave his loot—including $1,200 cash — to a priest, asked him to return it, then fled.

The Rev. Henry J. Taske, 68, pastor of Our Lady of the Rosary Church here said the man came to his parish house door Sunday morning, asked if he could talk to him and then blurted out:

"I robbed a market last night and I couldn't sleep all night. Here it is. I haven't spent a nickel of it. All I ask is that you see that it gets back to the rightful owner. That's why I'm giving it to you."

THE CLERGYMAN said the man shoved a bundle into his hands and then left the parish house.

The Rev. Taske called a member of his parish, R. H. Hogan, a city detective and they counted the bundle's contents: $1,200 in cash and $1,600 in checks.

Police said the money had been taken from Duesey's market, a meat store, by a gunman wearing a nylon stocking to partially mask his face.

a ONE COAT outside paint that does the work of TWO coats!
DEVOE is proud to be the first paint manufacturer to introduce a one-coat House Paint. Devoe Wonder-1-Coat is truly remarkable. FOR NOW — just one coat does the work of two ordinary coats — gives the same long-lasting protection, the same long-lasting beauty as two ordinary coats. Wonder-1-Coat's tremendous hiding power — twice the hiding power of ordinary paint — and it's double film-thickness, make this possible.
